Vatican Reports Pope Sees Vision Of Christ During Illness

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican announced today that Pope Pius XII saw a vision of Jesus Christ during the most critical moments of his grave illness last winter.

The recovery of the desperately ill pontiff began soon after.

The announcement was made by Luciano Casimiri, chief of the Vatican press office, upon authorization of the papal secretariat of state. The secretariat normally would make such statement only with the personal authorization of the Pope.

Casimiri told newsmen that they could state that "responsible Vatican circles" confirm the report of the vision published last week in Oggi (today), the largest Italian weekly magazine.

The Vatican press office issued this communique:

"This press service office has been authorized to confirm what has been announced by the weekly illustrated 'Oggi' in its issue of Nov. 24 about the vision of the Holy Father in the course of his illness of December 1954."

The Oggi article said:

"The secret about the episode was kept until now, and only the affectionate indiscretion of one of those knowing it enabled us to learn and tell of the marvelous episode, which undoubtedly will deeply move the Catholic faithful all over the world."

"The Holy Father is perfectly sure he saw Jesus—it was no dream; in that moment (on Dec. 2, 1954) he was fully awake and clear-minded.

"On the following day, when it seemed there were no hopes left, when the world's newspapers already had been circulating with forecasts of a forthcoming grave catastrophe, the ailing Pope started to improve in such a sudden manner that many people considered it a miracle."

Oggi said that on Dec. 2, 1954, when the ailing pope's illness from a gastric disturbance reached a climax, the pontiff began reciting the prayer "Anima Christi (soul of Christ)."

When he came to the invocation "in horae mortis meaa, voca me (in the hour of my death, call me)," the Pope saw "the sweet person of Jesus Christ at his bedside," said the magazine.

"In that moment," said the magazine, "the Holy Father believed that the Teacher came to call him to Himself, and, serenely used the prayer: 'Jube me venire ad te (order me to come to You).' Jesus, however, did not come to take him, but to console him and give him the certainty that his hour had no yet come."

The announcement of the Pope's vision recalled the announcement three years ago by Federico Cardinal Tedeschini, archpriest of St. Peter's Basilica, that Pope Pius saw a vision of the Virgin Mary in October 1951.

Cardinal Tedeschini told a throng commemorating the appearance of the virgin years before at the Portuguese Shrine of Fatima that the Pope had witnessed the same vision while walking in the Vatican gardens.

Later Vatican sources said privately that the Pope had not seen a vision of the virgin but rather the same unusual rays of the sun which were reported to have accompanied the vision of the virgin to the little shepherd children of Fatima.

The Vatican has never explained officially the statement by Cardinal Tedeschini nor has it ever made the private explanation given to newsmen either official or public.

Various saints of the church have had visions of Jesus, according to Roman Catholic writings. These have usually seen Him, however, in the form of the infant Jesus. Among them were St. Anthony of Padua and St. Christopher.

St. Teresa of the infant Jesus, who died at Alba de Tormes, Spain, on Oct. 4, 1582, had, according to the Roman Catholic encyclopedia, visits from God. But these, says the encyclopedia, were "intellectual visions in which the exterior senses were in no way affected."

The Pope's vision, judging by Oggi's article, was of Jesus in His full-grown form.

Robbins May Not Take Solicitor Job

Attorney Warns He Will Refuse Court Duties

Says Extra Salary Cannot Make Him Change Decision

Attorney Kenneth Robbins stood firm today in his determination to turn down the post of Circleville city solicitor if it would mean he would have to handle prosecutions in city court.

Robbins was elected solicitor, on the Republican ticket unopposed, in the November 8 balloting. However, when he filed as a candidate, he was given to understand he would not be required to handle the city prosecutions.

The prosecutions for the city, since early in the year, have been handled by Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer, in addition to his regular duties for the county and his private law practice. Ammer, since the election, has announced he wants to give up the extra work for the city as soon as possible, and in any event by the end of this year.

Ammer took over the city court work at the request of City Solicitor George Gerhardt, while the latter was recovering from a heart attack. Gerhardt did not seek re-election, and has also indicated he does not want anything to do with the city court work.

* * *

ROBBINS, now serving as assistant city solicitor, has made it clear he would not take over the court duties even with the added salary paid Ammer for that work.

"I don't care what they might pay me," he said when queried on the point. "I'm just not interested in handling the city prosecutions. I just don't have the time.

"If necessary, I would decline to take the oath of office—I'd refuse to qualify—rather than find myself with that responsibility."

The decision would not come up until after January 1, when newly-elected city officials are to be sworn into office.

Robbins said he is not certain what the procedure would have to be if the city, after January 1, found itself without an attorney to represent the municipality in city court. He expressed belief though, that if he goes through with his threat to turn down the solicitor's job, the responsibility would remain on the present solicitor "until a duly elected solicitor is chosen to succeed him."

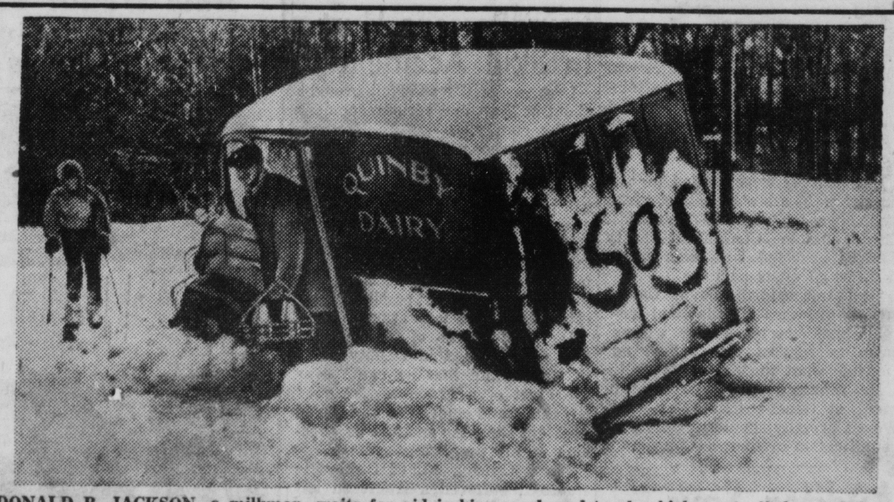

The problem centered on city court prosecutions is a major snag in Circleville's planning for next year because of the substantial revenue anticipated from the court's business.

O'Neill Tosses Hat Into Ring

Republican Nomination For Governor Sought

COLUMBUS (AP)—Three - term Ohio Atty.-Gen. C. William O'Neill today announced for the Republican nomination for governor.

The former state representative and House Speaker, of Marietta, made his long - expected declaration at a press breakfast.

He is the second GOP gubernatorial candidate. Lt. Gov. John W. Brown of Medina previously announced.

No Democrat has entered the top race, apparently waiting for Gov. Frank J. Lausche to say whether he will seek a sixth term or run for U. S. senator.

O'Neill, who will be 40 next February, said he sought the governorship because of challenging opportunities to:

"Make certain that Ohio does its share in strengthening the program for the education of our youth in these times of growing populations.

"Provide humane treatment for the mentally ill, and to guard the health and welfare of our people.

* * *

"BUILD HIGHWAYS adequate to meet the traffic needs of our state.

"Fight relentlessly the evil and lawless influences which degrade our people and debauch our youth.

"Maintain law and order, never allowing any special group to usurp government for its own selfish advantage.

"Oppose extravagance and be alert to the tax burden so that Ohio may continue to be a state of increasing jobs, attracting new industry and inviting expansion of that which we have.

"Conserve our natural resources and expand Ohio's recreational areas."

O'Neill said to obtain those ends the state government must be organized and administered by men "recruited for their ability, integrity, and zeal to serve the common good."

Raiders Ambush Israeli Traffic

JERUSALEM (AP) — Armed raiders based in Jordan ambushed traffic on an Israeli highway and dynamited houses in a border village early today, an Israeli army spokesman charged.

In the first raid, he said, an armed unit fired on two trucks traveling the highway south of Megiddo toward the Jezrez Valley.

3-Week Drive For Highway Safety Gets Start Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The second annual campaign to promote traffic safety throughout the nation started today.

The campaign, involving a tally of all traffic deaths during the next three weeks, features S-D Day (Safe Driving Day) on Dec. 1.

The success of S-D Day will be measured by comparing traffic fatalities that day as compared to the 81 on the corresponding day in 1954 and for the comparable three weeks last year when 2,144 lost their lives.

Dwight David Eisenhower II, grandson of the President, has been used as a model to illustrate a poster in connection with the nationwide observance of Safe Driving Day.

Copies of the drawing were distributed by the Ohio Highway Safety Department.

* * *

THE POSTER shows young Dwight seated in a soap box "auto." He's saying: "Grampa says we should make EVERY day Safe Driving Day."

Despite the snowstorm that whipped into Ohio Friday night, the weekend traffic fatality toll on state roads was low.

Apparently, hazardous driving conditions unexpectedly held down highway deaths by keeping motorists off the roads. Only 12 persons were killed from 6 p. m. Friday to last midnight in accidents involving motor vehicles.

But a headon collision, believed to have been the worst in Nebraska highway history, snuffed out 10 lives last night—those of six teenagers and four musicians.

Col. C. J. Sanders, head of the Nebraska safety patrol, said he could recall no other accident taking so many lives.

The teen-agers were returning to their farm homes near Ponca. The state safety patrol said a front tire apparently blew out. Their car rammed head on into one carrying the musicians, bound for an engagement in Norfolk, Neb.

The car carrying four members of the Jimmy Palmer orchestra, James E. Martello, about 30, Springfield, Ill.; Jack Renn, about 25, Pittsburgh; Lou Case Jr., about 25, Rock Island, Ill.; and Don Sheffield, about 25, of Vermont, burst into flames.

The Nebraskans killed were Rodney Hanks, Gary Stark, Robert Rakoa, Perry Book, Richard Rahn and Ronald Nobbe.

Baghdad Pact Nations Urged To Aid Arabs

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—The first meeting of the five-nation Baghdad defense alliance, called to plan mutual defense against Communist aggression, opened today with an Irqi pledge to aid any Arab state threatened by Israel.

Premier Nuri Said brought the Arab-Israeli feud into the meeting in his speech of welcome to British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and the premiers of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan.

Iraq, Nuri Said declared, "will not hesitate to use its resources for the assistance of any Arab state subjected to Israeli aggression in accordance with its obligation under the treaty of collective defense and economic cooperation between the states of the Arab League."

The Baghdad Pact was completed last month with the adherence of Iran. Egyptian opposition has kept Arab nations other than Iraq out of the Western-backed lineup.

Referring to the Arab opposition to the alliance, the Iraqi premier expressed hope that "the day will come when the brother Arab states will realize the great benefits which they have reaped from the existence of the Baghdad Pact."

The United States last week announced its "military and political liaison" with the pact. U. S. Ambassadors W. J. Gallmar and Adm. John H. Cassady joined the conference as observers after it voted them a formal invitation.

Argentina Alert For Any New Plot

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine government of Provisional President Pedro Aramburu moved into its second week today with an apparent drive underway to nip any plots by disgruntled generals.

A tank and an armored car took up positions behind the government house after authoritative reports that the new regime had put "out of circulation" three of Argentina's best known generals.

The tank and armored car, bristling machineguns and cannon, were the only extraordinary security measures evident, however.

Mayor Explains Premature OK On Legislation

Signature Is Inked On Firefighters' Work-Week Measure

Circleville Mayor Bob Hedges has explained how an ordinance pending in city council happened to be signed—ahead of time — by mistake.

The measure is one by which council would give its formal sanction to a reduction in the work-week for city firemen—already approved by the voters at the November 8 balloting. Mayor Hedges said he wanted to clarify the signing error to avoid any misunderstanding on the important legislation.

He explained that he was given the impression that the ordinance passed at council's last regular meeting, and that he put his signature on it accordingly. The mayor did not attend that particular meeting. Actually, the measure had to be held to first reading because two members of council were absent, preventing rush action under "suspension of the rules."

City Solicitor George Gerhardt also minimized the error made in signing the ordinance ahead of passage. He said the mistake does not affect legality of the legislation, and that "all they have to do —when they do pass it—is to cross out and put in the correct date."

* * *

MEANWHILE, other legal sources expressed surprise at the wording of the ordinance now pending in council. They said it is their understanding that the reduction in the firemen's work-week, having been approved by the voters and subsequently certified, is already in effect.

In support of this viewpoint, it was claimed that council needs to pass legislation to appropriate the necessary funds—to pay additional firemen. But that no formal sanction of the change in work-week is required in council.

Some Hope Held For Disabled Ship

BOSTON (AP)—A shadow of hope was raised today for the Liberian cargo ship Daytona, feared lost in yesterday's blow, when Coast Guard cutters near her last reported position said they had picked up a fragmentary radio message.

The cutters Acushnet and Evergreen said it "might have been from the Daytona."

Last direct word from the 322-foot converted LST tank landing ship with 24 aboard, was at 9 a. m. yesterday, when her captain reported she was listing badly and taking water. Her position was about 75 miles off Gloucester.

Search for the vessel by sea and air was intensified today.

Riots In Bombay Leave 5 Killed

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Bombay seethed in the grip of a pitched battle between armed police and stone-throwing demonstrators today. Five persons were reported killed, at least 225 wounded and over 1,000 rioters were arrested.

It was the second successive day of violence touched off by marathi-speaking Indians with Communist and Socialist backing protesting Prime Minister Nehru's decision to create a separate Bombay city state out of the big port.

Kefauver Studies Giant-Killer Role

Friends Expect Tennessee Solon To Battle Against Stevenson

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee apparently is going to assay a "giant killer" role in a battle with Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois for the 1956 Democratic nomination.

Friends who participated in a three - day party rally which wound up here last weekend reported Kefauver has firm pledges for more than $200,000 in campaign funds and is almost certain to take the plunge into the contest.

This would pit him directly against Stevenson, the 1952 nominee who is running again, while Gov. Averell Harriman of New York waits watchfully on the flanks for any sign of a stalemate.

Stevenson, who formally announced his candidacy last week, appeared to have been installed as an odds-on favorite for the nomination by members of the national committee and state chairmen who have most to do with the selection of next year's delegates.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), Stevenson's 1952 running mate, said he thinks Stevenson is far ahead and will get stronger as time rolls on.

* * *

"BY THE TIME next year's convention comes around, or even before then, I don't think there will be any doubt about Stevenson's nomination," he said.

However, Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) observed that "nine months is a long time to keep up the pace that Stevenson has set."

Harriman made it clear yesterday he isn't closing any doors to acceptance of the nomination if it should come his way. He maintained he isn't an "active candidate."

But he said he retains "the recognized right of a man to seek another office" when he was asked if he felt he ought to serve out his term of governor, which has three more years to run.

Harriman, who said he has an "understanding" with Stevenson on which he wouldn't elaborate, said he doesn't agree that the Democrats ought to pick a "moderate" candidate or write a "middle-of-the-road" platform.

He said he subscribes to former President Harry S. Truman's view that the party must bear a "liberal" label if it hopes to win the presidency and Congress next year.

Truman said Stevenson "made the best New Deal speech I ever heard" at Saturday night's $100-a-plate dinner, which wound up the party rally.

Commenting in Washington on Stevenson's speech, the chairman of the Republican National Committee, Leonard W. Hall, said the attack on the Eisenhower administration was "bunk."

Cincy Peanut Vendor Takes His 5th Wife

CINCINNATI (AP) — Le Cameron Trent, 64, has taken as his fifth bride a woman young enough to be an officer-pilot in the Royal Air Force.

Trent is the Loveland peanut machine vendor whose fourth marriage to an English stenographer followed a well-publicized courtship by mail and transatlantic telephone calls.

The fifth Mrs. Trent is the former Ella Millers from Dundee, Scotland. Their July marriage attracted no attention until reporters started asking Trent about his new bride over the weekend.

The Trents said they are "trying to avoid publicity and hope to live quietly."

Mrs. Trent, whose age was estimated by a photographer as in the middle 30s, said she was on leave from the RAF but expected to retire.

A reporter asked Mrs. Trent how she liked living in the United States. She replied:

"I do not enjoy these interruptions by reporters and newspapers. It's absolutely disgusting. Our marriage can't possibly be news now. There are plenty of people seeking publicity. We are not. I can't see why you hound us."

In 1951 a letter to an English newspaper appeared under Trent's name. The letter complained that American women were "so spoiled and required so much." About 500 women wrote to Trent's home."

Upper Midwest Gets Cold Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Cool Canadian air plunged temperatures as much as 22 degrees today in parts of the Dakotas and northern Minnesota to push thermometers near the zero mark.

The frigid air plummeted yesterday's high of 25 at International Falls, Minn., to 3 above today. At Grand Forks, N. D. the mercury fell from 30 to 8 above.

While the remainder of the country experienced little temperature change, readings advanced as much as 20 degrees in parts of the mid-Mississippi Valley and upper Great Lakes regions in a 24-hour period. Readings in the 30s and 40s became common today.

Kentuckian Aids Egyptian History

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt is stepping aside to let a Kentuckian make Egyptian history. William Marsh, an employe of Armco Steel Corp. here, will receive the first suit from Egypt's new popular-priced clothing factory.

After reading about the factory, Marsh wrote the prime minister, enclosing a check for $9 and his measurements. The prime minister had intended to wear the first suit, but he said that Marsh could have the very first one.

Auditor Says Plunge 'In Red' Looms Certain

Gloomy Prediction Comes While Needs Continue To Grow

Confirming a recent report, City Auditor Lillian Young said today that municipal Circleville may "end up the year five or six thousand dollars in the red."

"If we don't," she added, "I can't see at this particular time where the money is going to come from." Last year-end, she recalled, "the city just about broke even."

Commenting recently on the city's latest financial report, Councilman Clarence Helvering told his colleagues on the law-making body that a deficit of "five or six thousand dollars" appeared to be inevitable. He explained, however, that he made the comment at that time without having had an opportunity to check his estimates with the auditor.

Today, she said his fears were well founded.

* * *

HELVERING based his figures on what he knows of the city's financial status, in some respects a highly complicated and unexplained picture which the lawmakers themselves rarely claim to understand.

Councilman John Robinson, defeated in his bid for the mayor's job in the November 8 elections, has declared the city would have a great deal more money to spend if "leaks" could be plugged in the spending policy. However, he has never specified in which departments the "leaks" are draining off much-needed income.

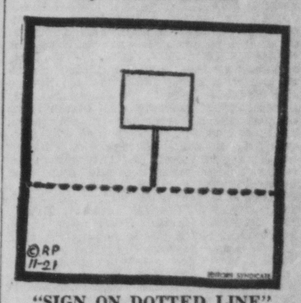

Mayor Bob Hedges, successful candidate for re-election, is on record with the claim that the city is "not desperate" for funds, and that enough money can be gained through normal sources to keep the city on an even financial keel. However, he also has yet to point out where money can be obtained for expansion and modernization of several city departments.

At council's latest meeting, Councilman Harold Clifton warned that expenditures for sewer improvements must be rated a high priority — when the money

"SIGN ON DOTTED LINE"

This reminds me of the new lease my landlady Mrs. Goonsgarten just drew up for me. I haven't signed it because some of the clauses are pretty unfair. For instance, paragraph 5, page 33 states that the party of the 1st part (me) must refrain from cooking, hollering, doing laundry, whistling, gargling, scuffling, stomping and-or running my Electric Train before seven o'clock in the morning. Also paragraph 2, page 104 states that I must not hang my beret on the bust of the late Mr. Goonsgarten or use the other "Guest's" toothbrushes to comb Albert, my Marmoset, with. This last is what made me mad. I don't mind her trying to take all the fun out of my life but imagine her picking on a poor, innocent, dumb animal like Albert.

THE POSTER shows young Dwight seated in a soap box "auto." He's saying: "Grampa says we should make EVERY day Safe Driving Day."

Despite the snowstorm that whipped into Ohio Friday night, the weekend traffic fatality toll on state roads was low.

Apparently, hazardous driving conditions unexpectedly held down highway deaths by keeping motorists off the roads. Only 12 persons were killed from 6 p. m. Friday to last midnight in accidents involving motor vehicles.

But a headon collision, believed to have been the worst in Nebraska highway history, snuffed out 10 lives last night—those of six teenagers and four musicians.

Col. C. J. Sanders, head of the Nebraska safety patrol, said he could recall no other accident taking so many lives.

The teen-agers were returning to their farm homes near Ponca. The state safety patrol said a front tire apparently blew out. Their car rammed head on into one carrying the musicians, bound for an engagement in Norfolk, Neb.

The car carrying four members of the Jimmy Palmer orchestra, James E. Martello, about 30, Springfield, Ill.; Jack Renn, about 25, Pittsburgh; Lou Case Jr., about 25, Rock Island, Ill.; and Don Sheffield, about 25, of Vermont, burst into flames.

The Nebraskans killed were Rodney Hanks, Gary Stark, Robert Rakoa, Perry Book, Richard Rahn and Ronald Nobbe.

Argentina Alert For Any New Plot

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine government of Provisional President Pedro Aramburu moved into its second week today with an apparent drive underway to nip any plots by disgruntled generals.

A tank and an armored car took up positions behind the government house after authoritative reports that the new regime had put "out of circulation" three of Argentina's best known generals.

The tank and armored car, bristling machineguns and cannon, were the only extraordinary security measures evident, however.

Baghdad Pact Nations Urged To Aid Arabs

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—The first meeting of the five-nation Baghdad defense alliance, called to plan mutual defense against Communist aggression, opened today with an Irqi pledge to aid any Arab state threatened by Israel.

Premier Nuri Said brought the Arab-Israeli feud into the meeting in his speech of welcome to British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and the premiers of Iran, Turkey and Pakistan.

Iraq, Nuri Said declared, "will not hesitate to use its resources for the assistance of any Arab state subjected to Israeli aggression in accordance with its obligation under the treaty of collective defense and economic cooperation between the states of the Arab League."

The Baghdad Pact was completed last month with the adherence of Iran. Egyptian opposition has kept Arab nations other than Iraq out of the Western-backed lineup.

Referring to the Arab opposition to the alliance, the Iraqi premier expressed hope that "the day will come when the brother Arab states will realize the great benefits which they have reaped from the existence of the Baghdad Pact."

The United States last week announced its "military and political liaison" with the pact. U. S. Ambassadors W. J. Gallmar and Adm. John H. Cassady joined the conference as observers after it voted them a formal invitation.

Mayor Explains Premature OK On Legislation

Signature Is Inked On Firefighters' Work-Week Measure

Circleville Mayor Bob Hedges has explained how an ordinance pending in city council happened to be signed—ahead of time — by mistake.

The measure is one by which council would give its formal sanction to a reduction in the work-week for city firemen—already approved by the voters at the November 8 balloting. Mayor Hedges said he wanted to clarify the signing error to avoid any misunderstanding on the important legislation.

He explained that he was given the impression that the ordinance passed at council's last regular meeting, and that he put his signature on it accordingly. The mayor did not attend that particular meeting. Actually, the measure had to be held to first reading because two members of council were absent, preventing rush action under "suspension of the rules."

City Solicitor George Gerhardt also minimized the error made in signing the ordinance ahead of passage. He said the mistake does not affect legality of the legislation, and that "all they have to do —when they do pass it—is to cross out and put in the correct date."

* * *

MEANWHILE, other legal sources expressed surprise at the wording of the ordinance now pending in council. They said it is their understanding that the reduction in the firemen's work-week, having been approved by the voters and subsequently certified, is already in effect.

In support of this viewpoint, it was claimed that council needs to pass legislation to appropriate the necessary funds—to pay additional firemen. But that no formal sanction of the change in work-week is required in council.

Some Hope Held For Disabled Ship

BOSTON (AP)—A shadow of hope was raised today for the Liberian cargo ship Daytona, feared lost in yesterday's blow, when Coast Guard cutters near her last reported position said they had picked up a fragmentary radio message.

The cutters Acushnet and Evergreen said it "might have been from the Daytona."

Last direct word from the 322-foot converted LST tank landing ship with 24 aboard, was at 9 a. m. yesterday, when her captain reported she was listing badly and taking water. Her position was about 75 miles off Gloucester.

Search for the vessel by sea and air was intensified today.

Riots In Bombay Leave 5 Killed

BOMBAY, India (AP) — Bombay seethed in the grip of a pitched battle between armed police and stone-throwing demonstrators today. Five persons were reported killed, at least 225 wounded and over 1,000 rioters were arrested.

It was the second successive day of violence touched off by marathi-speaking Indians with Communist and Socialist backing protesting Prime Minister Nehru's decision to create a separate Bombay city state out of the big port.

Kefauver Studies Giant-Killer Role

Friends Expect Tennessee Solon To Battle Against Stevenson

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee apparently is going to assay a "giant killer" role in a battle with Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois for the 1956 Democratic nomination.

Friends who participated in a three - day party rally which wound up here last weekend reported Kefauver has firm pledges for more than $200,000 in campaign funds and is almost certain to take the plunge into the contest.

This would pit him directly against Stevenson, the 1952 nominee who is running again, while Gov. Averell Harriman of New York waits watchfully on the flanks for any sign of a stalemate.

Stevenson, who formally announced his candidacy last week, appeared to have been installed as an odds-on favorite for the nomination by members of the national committee and state chairmen who have most to do with the selection of next year's delegates.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), Stevenson's 1952 running mate, said he thinks Stevenson is far ahead and will get stronger as time rolls on.

* * *

"BY THE TIME next year's convention comes around, or even before then, I don't think there will be any doubt about Stevenson's nomination," he said.

However, Sen. McNamara (D-Mich) observed that "nine months is a long time to keep up the pace that Stevenson has set."

Harriman made it clear yesterday he isn't closing any doors to acceptance of the nomination if it should come his way. He maintained he isn't an "active candidate."

But he said he retains "the recognized right of a man to seek another office" when he was asked if he felt he ought to serve out his term of governor, which has three more years to run.

Harriman, who said he has an "understanding" with Stevenson on which he wouldn't elaborate, said he doesn't agree that the Democrats ought to pick a "moderate" candidate or write a "middle-of-the-road" platform.

He said he subscribes to former President Harry S. Truman's view that the party must bear a "liberal" label if it hopes to win the presidency and Congress next year.

Truman said Stevenson "made the best New Deal speech I ever heard" at Saturday night's $100-a-plate dinner, which wound up the party rally.

Commenting in Washington on Stevenson's speech, the chairman of the Republican National Committee, Leonard W. Hall, said the attack on the Eisenhower administration was "bunk."

Cincy Peanut Vendor Takes His 5th Wife

CINCINNATI (AP) — Le Cameron Trent, 64, has taken as his fifth bride a woman young enough to be an officer-pilot in the Royal Air Force.

Trent is the Loveland peanut machine vendor whose fourth marriage to an English stenographer followed a well-publicized courtship by mail and transatlantic telephone calls.

The fifth Mrs. Trent is the former Ella Millers from Dundee, Scotland. Their July marriage attracted no attention until reporters started asking Trent about his new bride over the weekend.

The Trents said they are "trying to avoid publicity and hope to live quietly."

Mrs. Trent, whose age was estimated by a photographer as in the middle 30s, said she was on leave from the RAF but expected to retire.

A reporter asked Mrs. Trent how she liked living in the United States. She replied:

"I do not enjoy these interruptions by reporters and newspapers. It's absolutely disgusting. Our marriage can't possibly be news now. There are plenty of people seeking publicity. We are not. I can't see why you hound us."

In 1951 a letter to an English newspaper appeared under Trent's name. The letter complained that American women were "so spoiled and required so much." About 500 women wrote to Trent's home."

Reds Change Farms

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China reported today it now has 1,240,000 cooperative farms, 590,000 of them created in the last three months or so. Peiping said the overall target of 1,300,000 cooperative farms by spring will be exceeded."

Auditor Says Plunge 'In Red' Looms Certain

Gloomy Prediction Comes While Needs Continue To Grow

Confirming a recent report, City Auditor Lillian Young said today that municipal Circleville may "end up the year five or six thousand dollars in the red."

"If we don't," she added, "I can't see at this particular time where the money is going to come from." Last year-end, she recalled, "the city just about broke even."

Commenting recently on the city's latest financial report, Councilman Clarence Helvering told his colleagues on the law-making body that a deficit of "five or six thousand dollars" appeared to be inevitable. He explained, however, that he made the comment at that time without having had an opportunity to check his estimates with the auditor.

Today, she said his fears were well founded.

* * *

HELVERING based his figures on what he knows of the city's financial status, in some respects a highly complicated and unexplained picture which the lawmakers themselves rarely claim to understand.

Councilman John Robinson, defeated in his bid for the mayor's job in the November 8 elections, has declared the city would have a great deal more money to spend if "leaks" could be plugged in the spending policy. However, he has never specified in which departments the "leaks" are draining off much-needed income.

Mayor Bob Hedges, successful candidate for re-election, is on record with the claim that the city is "not desperate" for funds, and that enough money can be gained through normal sources to keep the city on an even financial keel. However, he also has yet to point out where money can be obtained for expansion and modernization of several city departments.

At council's latest meeting, Councilman Harold Clifton warned that expenditures for sewer improvements must be rated a high priority — when the money

Upper Midwest Gets Cold Again

CHICAGO (AP) — Cool Canadian air plunged temperatures as much as 22 degrees today in parts of the Dakotas and northern Minnesota to push thermometers near the zero mark.

The frigid air plummeted yesterday's high of 25 at International Falls, Minn., to 3 above today. At Grand Forks, N. D. the mercury fell from 30 to 8 above.

While the remainder of the country experienced little temperature change, readings advanced as much as 20 degrees in parts of the mid-Mississippi Valley and upper Great Lakes regions in a 24-hour period. Readings in the 30s and 40s became common today.

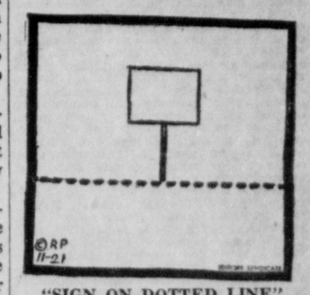

Kentuckian Aids Egyptian History

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt is stepping aside to let a Kentuckian make Egyptian history. William Marsh, an employe of Armco Steel Corp. here, will receive the first suit from Egypt's new popular-priced clothing factory.

After reading about the factory, Marsh wrote the prime minister, enclosing a check for $9 and his measurements. The prime minister had intended to wear the first suit, but he said that Marsh could have the very first one.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"SIGN ON DOTTED LINE"

This reminds me of the new lease my landlady Mrs. Goonsgarten just drew up for me. I haven't signed it because some of the clauses are pretty unfair. For instance, paragraph 5, page 33 states that the party of the 1st part (me) must refrain from cooking, hollering, doing laundry, whistling, gargling, scuffling, stomping and/or running my Electric Train before seven o'clock in the morning. Also paragraph 2, page 104 states that I must not hang my beret on the bust of the late Mr. Goonsgarten or use the other "Guest's" toothbrushes to comb Albert, my Marmoset, with. This last is what made me mad. I don't mind her trying to take all the fun out of my life but imagine her picking on a poor, innocent, dumb animal like Albert.

Crucial Cold War Battle Taking Shape

New Comintern Tack Studied As Geneva Talks Stalemate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid efforts of both sides to keep the Geneva spirit breathing, a crucial cold war battle is shaping up. It is a long-term propaganda battle between two ways of life—to be fought with political, economic and cultural weapons.

A reconstructed Communist International Comintern will wage the fight for the Soviet Union. The Comintern program is based on the preo of a military and diplomatic standoff between the two power blocs. The end of the Geneva conference in complete failure was the signal for the Red campaign to get up steam.

All this seems clear from recent statements of Soviet and satellite propaganda outlets. The campaign appears to have three facets:

1. A drive to increase Communist influence in all so-called colonial and backward areas.

2. A stepped-up drive among the working classes in all countries. It is from the working classes that the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions whose directorate provides a new Comintern linking Moscow to parties throughout the world.

* * *

3. A DRIVE for "unity of the left." The Communists in countries like France, Germany and Japan will attempt to woo the far-left elements of Socialist parties into a united front to increase Communist power and influence in the parliaments.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper in Moscow, underscored this program in its review of prospects of communism at the time of the recent celebration of the Russian Revolution anniversary. The program was elaborated further in statements elsewhere, particularly in France, whose Red party is a bellwether for Western Communists.

While the "peace partisan" movement will be stepped up to demand retention of the "spirit of Geneva," the Communist parties will keep in mind the recent rallying cry of Pravda: "Our century is the century of the victorious march of communism."

Pravda told the Communists this meant continued "strengthening of the might of the Soviet Union and its defense capacities and training of Soviet people in a spirit of vigilance toward the machinations of the enemies of peace." The article directed Communists elsewhere to "quicken the pace of the national liberation movement in the colonies and the activization of the struggle of the working class for its rights in capitalist countries."

Shotgun Blasts Rip Homes Of 3 Non-Strikers

No Injuries Reported As New Castle Feud Continues Smoldering

NEW CASTLE Ind. (AP)—Three nonstrikers in the Perfect Circle Corp. piston ring foundry, scene of a riot Oct. 5, reported shotgun blasts were fired into windows of their homes early today.

Gerald Harvey, a foundry supervisor, said two blasts were fired through a picture window in his home in nearby Sulphur Springs.

A half an hour earlier, a blast broke a window in Herbert Owens' home near New Castle. No one was hurt in either incident.

Roy Turner, 48, an employe of the firm 26 years, said the picture window in his New Castle home was shattered by a shotgun blast about 4 a. m. He said he and his wife and four children were asleep.

The reports were announced by Chesley Juday, foundry manager.

Nonstrikers went to work without incident as the CIO United Auto Workers continued to restrict the number of pickets to five, the limit set in an Aug. 1 injunction.

WILLIAM F. Caldwell, a UAW international representative, who was sentenced last Friday to 30 days on the state penal farm for a strike stoning incident at the foundry, told reporters, "I was framed." His city court conviction is being appealed to the Henry County circuit court.

Carl Batchfield, president of the striking UAW local, said he didn't know about the shootings until a reporter told him. He said the union's international headquarters is still pledged to nonviolence.

Owens said he reported the shooting at his home to the sheriff's office but was told no officer would be sent out.

Sheriff Robert Padgett couldn't be reached today, but he has said previously his staff is too small to try to combat violence in the strike.

Batchfield said company and union negotiators are scheduled to meet again in Chicago with federal mediators tomorrow.

Negotiations broke off Nov. 9 over UW's insistence on getting a union shop in the New Castle foundry.

Miami University Readies Fund Bid

The announcement followed a meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees of the university over the week end.

The funds would come from the $150 million bond issue approved Nov. 8.

President Millett said the university needs more buildings to meet increasing enrollment.

Russians Told India To Keep Neutral Status

Nehru Plans To Shun Any Military Alliance With Outside Powers

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told the top leaders of the Soviet Union last night that India is "in no camp and no military alliance."

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin followed with a speech at a state banquet in which he said the Soviet Union has "not lost hope" as a result of the Big Four foreign ministers' deadlock at their Geneva conference.

Russia, Bulganin said, is "certain that in the end the four powers will succeed in solving the problems which face them."

The Soviet Premier and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev are heading a Russian delegation on a state visit to India, Burma and Afghanistan.

The Russians banqueted after visiting the Taj Mahal at Agra, where Khrushchev said the Soviet Union wished to help India become strong industrially "to assure its freedom and independence." On Saturday Bulganin in a speech called Russia and India "allies" and offered to share Russian experience in atomic energy, industry and electric power.

IN HIS BANQUET speech, Nehru said there is a deep friendship between India and Russia, but he added:

"We are convinced it is not by military pacts and alliances and by piling up armaments that world peace and security can be attained." The camp of peace and good will, he continued, "should include as many countries as possible and be opposed to none.'

Indian Reds were invited for the first time to a state banquet given by Nehru for visiting dignitaries. Three Indian Communist party leaders attended with representatives of all other parties.

Bulganin said the Soviet Union wants to lessen international tension and "in the future wishes also to support this policy, no matter what the difficulties."

He repeated the Russian argument at Geneva that East and West Germany should negotiate on reunification of their country.

can be obtained. And meanwhile, a proposal to reduce the firemen's work-week — already okayed by the voters—is waiting for an appropriation measure to pay the salaries of additional firemen.

Miss Young said she is not able at this time to give definite figures on the municipal deficit that looms almost certain the end of this year.

When asked, however, if the city treasury would be worse off than last year-end, when it broke "about even", she replied:

"Oh lands sake! We certainly will be worse off—definitely. The estimate made by Mr. Helvering may be very accurate."

Four Persons Hurt In Skid Accident

Last weekend's snowfall brought about at least one serious accident in the county.

Four persons, all from the Circleville area, were hurt Saturday when their car went out of control on the Pickaway-Saltcreek Rd. near Leistville. William Davis, 17, of Circleville Route 4, a passenger in the car, is in University Hospital in Columbus with head injuries, including a possible fractured skull, and lacerations.

Daniel Bond, 24, of 195 Harrison St., the driver, told Deputy Sheriff Carl White that he came over the crest of a grade and skidded on slush and snow. Bond injured his right shoulder and had an abrasion of his nose.

Lloyd Crosby, 12, of Circleville Route 1, suffered a fractured left arm. Lowell Rowland, 16, also of Circleville Route 1, hurt his left shoulder.

Two Motorists Being Cited In Cruiser Crash

Carl W. Olney, 27, formerly of Circleville and now living in Chillicothe, is one of two motorists facing three charges which resulted when they smashed into a Franklin County sheriff's cruiser Sunday.

Olney and Ronald L. Brooks, 24, of Chillicothe Route 3, both are being accused of: drunken driving, failure to obey an officer's signals and failure to have their cars under control within an assured clear distance ahead.

Two Franklin County deputies had stopped their cruiser on Route 23 south of Route 665 to check on a car parked at the side of the road without lights. One deputy was talking to the driver of the parked car while the other was reportedly directing traffic approximately 25 feet behind the cruiser, which allegedly had the red flasher light working.

The deputies charge that the two cars, with Olney in the lead, approached from the south "at a high rate of speed." Olney's car careened into the cruiser and then crashed into St. Joseph's Cemetery before overturning. Brooks' auto came up seconds later and also crashed into the cruiser and then burst into flames.

NONE OF the occupants of the two cars was injured seriously. Several were treated for cuts and bruises.

The deputies reported that Olney disregarded warnings by flashlight to stop. One deputy said he scrambled behind an embankment when Olney's car appeared headed directly for him.

Crucial Cold War Battle Taking Shape

New Comintern Tack Studied As Geneva Talks Stalemate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid efforts of both sides to keep the Geneva spirit breathing, a crucial cold war battle is shaping up. It is a long-term propaganda battle between two ways of life—to be fought with political, economic and cultural weapons.

A reconstructed Communist International Comintern will wage the fight for the Soviet Union. The Comintern program is based on the preo of a military and diplomatic standoff between the two power blocs. The end of the Geneva conference in complete failure was the signal for the Red campaign to get up steam.

All this seems clear from recent statements of Soviet and satellite propaganda outlets. The campaign appears to have three facets:

1. A drive to increase Communist influence in all so-called colonial and backward areas.

2. A stepped-up drive among the working classes in all countries. It is from the working classes that the Communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions whose directorate provides a new Comintern linking Moscow to parties throughout the world.

* * *

3. A DRIVE for "unity of the left." The Communists in countries like France, Germany and Japan will attempt to woo the far-left elements of Socialist parties into a united front to increase Communist power and influence in the parliaments.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper in Moscow, underscored this program in its review of prospects of communism at the time of the recent celebration of the Russian Revolution anniversary. The program was elaborated further in statements elsewhere, particularly in France, whose Red party is a bellwether for Western Communists.

While the "peace partisan" movement will be stepped up to demand retention of the "spirit of Geneva," the Communist parties will keep in mind the recent rallying cry of Pravda: "Our century is the century of the victorious march of communism."

Pravda told the Communists this meant continued "strengthening of the might of the Soviet Union and its defense capacities and training of Soviet people in a spirit of vigilance toward the machinations of the enemies of peace." The article directed Communists elsewhere to "quicken the pace of the national liberation movement in the colonies and the activization of the struggle of the working class for its rights in capitalist countries."

Shotgun Blasts Rip Homes Of 3 Non-Strikers

No Injuries Reported As New Castle Feud Continues Smoldering

NEW CASTLE Ind. (AP)—Three nonstrikers in the Perfect Circle Corp. piston ring foundry, scene of a riot Oct. 5, reported shotgun blasts were fired into windows of their homes early today.

Gerald Harvey, a foundry supervisor, said two blasts were fired through a picture window in his home in nearby Sulphur Springs.

A half an hour earlier, a blast broke a window in Herbert Owens' home near New Castle. No one was hurt in either incident.

Roy Turner, 48, an employe of the firm 26 years, said the picture window in his New Castle home was shattered by a shotgun blast about 4 a. m. He said he and his wife and four children were asleep.

The reports were announced by Chesley Juday, foundry manager.

Nonstrikers went to work without incident as the CIO United Auto Workers continued to restrict the number of pickets to five, the limit set in an Aug. 1 injunction.

* * *

WILLIAM F. Caldwell, a UAW international representative, who was sentenced last Friday to 30 days on the state penal farm for a strike stoning incident at the foundry, told reporters, "I was framed." His city court conviction is being appealed to the Henry County circuit court.

Carl Batchfield, president of the striking UAW local, said he didn't know about the shootings until a reporter told him. He said the union's international headquarters is still pledged to nonviolence.

Owens said he reported the shooting at his home to the sheriff's office but was told no officer would be sent out.

Sheriff Robert Padgett couldn't be reached today, but he has said previously his staff is too small to try to combat violence in the strike.

Batchfield said company and union negotiators are scheduled to meet again in Chicago with federal mediators tomorrow.

Negotiations broke off Nov. 9 over UW's insistence on getting a union shop in the New Castle foundry.

Miami University Readies Fund Bid

OXFORD (AP)—The Ohio Legislature will be asked for $15 million for improvements to Miami University when it next meets, President John D. Millett says.

The announcement followed a meeting of the executive committee of the board of trustees of the university over the week end.

The funds would come from the $150 million bond issue approved Nov. 8.

President Millett said the university needs more buildings to meet increasing enrollment.

Russians Told India To Keep Neutral Status

Nehru Plans To Shun Any Military Alliance With Outside Powers

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru told the top leaders of the Soviet Union last night that India is "in no camp and no military alliance."

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin followed with a speech at a state banquet in which he said the Soviet Union has "not lost hope" as a result of the Big Four foreign ministers' deadlock at their Geneva conference.

Russia, Bulganin said, is "certain that in the end the four powers will succeed in solving the problems which face them."

The Soviet Premier and Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev are heading a Russian delegation on a state visit to India, Burma and Afghanistan.

The Russians banqueted after visiting the Taj Mahal at Agra, where Khrushchev said the Soviet Union wished to help India become strong industrially "to assure its freedom and independence." On Saturday Bulganin in a speech called Russia and India "allies" and offered to share Russian experience in atomic energy, industry and electric power.

* * *

IN HIS BANQUET speech, Nehru said there is a deep friendship between India and Russia, but he added:

"We are convinced it is not by military pacts and alliances and by piling up armaments that world peace and security can be attained." The camp of peace and good will, he continued, "should include as many countries as possible and be opposed to none.'

Indian Reds were invited for the first time to a state banquet given by Nehru for visiting dignitaries. Three Indian Communist party leaders attended with representatives of all other parties.

Bulganin said the Soviet Union wants to lessen international tension and "in the future wishes also to support this policy, no matter what the difficulties."

He repeated the Russian argument at Geneva that East and West Germany should negotiate on reunification of their country.

Four Persons Hurt In Skid Accident

Last weekend's snowfall brought about at least one serious accident in the county.

Four persons, all from the Circleville area, were hurt Saturday when their car went out of control on the Pickaway-Saltcreek Rd. near Leistville. William Davis, 17, of Circleville Route 4, a passenger in the car, is in University Hospital in Columbus with head injuries, including a possible fractured skull, and lacerations.

Daniel Bond, 24, of 195 Harrison St., the driver, told Deputy Sheriff Carl White that he came over the crest of a grade and skidded on slush and snow. Bond injured his right shoulder and had an abrasion of his nose.

Lloyd Crosby, 12, of Circleville Route 1, suffered a fractured left arm. Lowell Rowland, 16, also of Circleville Route 1, hurt his left shoulder.

Two Motorists Being Cited In Cruiser Crash

Carl W. Olney, 27, formerly of Circleville and now living in Chillicothe, is one of two motorists facing three charges which resulted when they smashed into a Franklin County sheriff's cruiser Sunday.

Olney and Ronald L. Brooks, 24, of Chillicothe Route 3, both are being accused of: drunken driving, failure to obey an officer's signals and failure to have their cars under control within an assured clear distance ahead.

Two Franklin County deputies had stopped their cruiser on Route 23 south of Route 665 to check on a car parked at the side of the road without lights. One deputy was talking to the driver of the parked car while the other was reportedly directing traffic approximately 25 feet behind the cruiser, which allegedly had the red flasher light working.

The deputies charge that the two cars, with Olney in the lead, approached from the south "at a high rate of speed." Olney's car careened into the cruiser and then crashed into St. Joseph's Cemetery before overturning. Brooks' auto came up seconds later and also crashed into the cruiser and then burst into flames.

NONE OF the occupants of the two cars was injured seriously. Several were treated for cuts and bruises.

The deputies reported that Olney disregarded warnings by flashlight to stop. One deputy said he scrambled behind an embankment when Olney's car appeared headed directly for him.

MINERS' WELFARE FUND NEARING $BILLION MARK

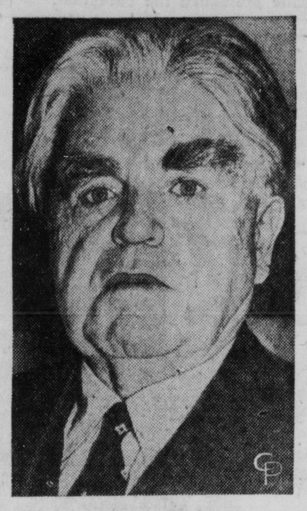

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Association Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It started with nickels and is now reaching toward a billion!

The world's largest non-governmental welfare fund—a monument to beetle-browed John L. Lewis—expects to take in its one billionth dollar before another year has passed.

As it nears completion of its 10th year, still another development attests to the phenomenal growth of the United Mine Workers' fund, which was established in 1946.

In the period from October to March, 10 hospitals will open along a 250-mile fringe of the coal-mining belt in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia. They are being built with $18 million in welfare funds. When opened, they will provide one thousand beds for the care of miners and their families.

John L. Lewis

* * *

FRIENDS of the aging UMW chief—he is 75—say he regards the welfare fund as the greatest achievement of his long, colorful and tempestuous life.

It was created in the first post-war year when an agreement was reached for a five cent royalty to be paid by coal operators on each ton of coal. The royalty continued to rise in the years that followed, first to 10 cents a ton, then 20 and 30, and now 40 cents a ton.

Each year, as the royalty increased, more and more money flowed into the fund until now the intake is $129 million a year. When the fund is 10 years old its revenue is expected to reach $1 billion.

The money is spent almost as fast as it is taken in. Lewis says the time to help the miners is now, not later. During the first nine years, the fund paid out approximately $330 million in pension payments.

* * *

SOFT COAL miners covered by UMW contracts receive $100 a month at age 60 after completing 20 years work in the coal industry. In addition, they get their Social Security.

About 60 thousand miners and another 40 thousand dependents are now the beneficiaries of this $100 pension.

During the same nine-year period, the fund paid out $246 million for hospital and medical care for miners and their families.

Disabled miners received another $105 million in cash aid and $76 million in cash benefits also were paid to the widows and other survivors of deceased miners. Administrative costs amounted to about $22 million.

In its ninth year, the fund collected $129 million and spent approximately $119. In all, it has taken in $882 million and expended $779. The fund's balance on June 30 was $103 million.

* * *

LEWIS dominates the fund. There are three trustees, of which he is one. Another is Charles A. Owen, representing the operators. The third is Josephine Roche, former assistant secretary of the treasury, who acts as the director. She is an old friend of the UMW boss.

It took a nationwide strike to set up the fund. Lewis reached agreement on the nickel royalty while the government operated the seized mines. The operators then fell into line. Still other strikes followed before the operators would agree to Lewis' demand for a pay-as-you-go welfare fund.

There is a separate fund for the much-smaller anthracite industry.

While the pay-as-you-go plan has proven successful for the soft coal industry, it has run into difficulties in the economically harder-hit anthracite industry. Hard coal miners took a 50 per cent cut in pensions and death benefits in 1954.

Officers Elected By County Legion

Pickaway County Council of the American Legion held its annual election at a recent meeting.

Officers were chosen for the coming year as follows:

Murl Campbell of Ashville, commander; Robert Liston Jr. of Circleville, first vice-commander; Warren Straley of Williamsport, second vice-commander; Martin Linninger of New Holland, adjutant; John Hoover of Ashville, finance officer; George Helwagen of Circleville, chaplain, and Doyle Calvert of Ashville, sergeant-at-arms.

Kefauver Sees Aid For Israel

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) says, "America is not going to let Israel be driven into the sea."

He said yesterday he agreed with President Eisenhower that the nation "wants no arms race in the Middle East."

But, he said, if the Soviet Union persists in arming Egypt, "we may have no alternative but to enable Israel to purchase sufficient arms to protect its sovereignty."

Kefauver spoke to a meeting of Israel Histradut, a Jewish labor federation.

Clerics Get Advice On Alcoholics

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ministers should recognize alcoholism as a "symptom of total personality need," a group of Methodist leaders said yesterday. Representatives of the church's theological schools said ministers should adopt a "new method of approach" if they are to help alcoholics who come to them for counseling.

"Pastoral care of the alcoholic is a new and growing challenge, involving long term preparation and adequate training," they said.

Chief Justice Warren Faces Difficult Decision if Boom for Presidency Comes

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Association Correspondent

Chief Justice Earl Warren

WASHINGTON — Chief Justice Earl Warren could be confronted by about the toughest personal decision in political history if President Eisenhower does not seek re-election and support for the GOP nomination starts snowballing for the former California governor and vice presidential nominee.

No chief justice ever has resigned to bid for the presidency, although one was willing to do so. The Founding Fathers in the Constitutional Convention made it clear that they conceived of the head of the judiciary as of equal stature with the chiefs of the executive and legislative branches.

It is true that Charles Evans Hughes resigned from the highest Court in 1916 to become the unsuccessful Republican standard bearer against Woodrow Wilson, but he was only an associate justice at the time, having given up the New York governorship in 1910 to accept President Taft's appointment.

There is no law which says that a chief justice or associate must resign to run for high public office, but Hughes probably set a precedent when he immediately did so. Presumably Warren would give up his post if he chose to run for President.

* * *

EVEN AS an associate justice, Hughes thought so highly of his position that he absolutely refused to be a candidate for the presidency in 1912, and it took a draft move such as Warren might encounter to cause him to waiver from that decision in 1916.

After his defeat, Hughes sojourned in private law practice and as Harding's secretary of State before going back to the Court as chief justice upon President Hoover's appointment at the retirement of William Howard Taft.

No chief justice since John Marshall, except Salmon P. Chase, has considered the office anything but the highest public calling in the land for a man in its line.

Chase, whose biographer comments that "perhaps his chief defect as a statesman was an insatiable desire for supreme office," in 1872 made an unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination. He had been named by President Lincoln in 1864, and served as head of the highest bench until 1873.

* * *

AN OHIOAN, Chase's political career was one of the most amazing. Starting out as a Whig, he formed the Liberty party in 1841, and later combined it with the Free-Soilers to help elect Martin Van Buren to the presidency. Chase served in the Senate as an Independent Democrat, yet with Seward was ranked as one of the two leading Republicans when Lincoln was nominated by the new GOP in 1860. Finally he turned Democrat again. He can hardly be regarded as typical of Supreme Court justices.

Warren has said he wishes no further elective office, but somehow many people will not take "no" for an answer when the presidency is concerned. Moreover, he had had an auspicious start on the Court and his leadership there of diverse intellectual groups among the jurists has won great respect. He gets right in and digs on the gruelling job of writing decisions, preparing more than his fair share.

* * *

THE CHIEF JUSTICESHIP is a job replete with honor, dignity, and significance, yet far from the strains and stresses of the presidency. Marshall's 34 years set the record for length of tenure, but Roger B. Taney of Maryland, his successor, served 28 years, and Melville W. Fuller of Illinois 21 years.

The pay for such top spots in the nation are hardly comparable, but even on that score Warren probably comes out at least as well as he would in the White House. He became chief justice at $25,000 per year, and if he takes a retirement available to him as a long-time California office holder, he may be eligible for as much as $18,000 additional in 1956.

* * *

THE PRESIDENT "makes" $100,000 a year, plus a $50,000 expense allowance, but after taxes, the upkeep of the 30 domestics he has to pay out of his own pocket, the extraordinary personal expenses he is bound to encounter, and incidentals, he may do well to make as much as the chief justice.

It is only in comparatively recent times that the two highest offices have drawn somewhat together. Taft is the only one of 33 Presidents who ever served as one of the 14 chief justices, and that was after he occupied the White House.

Probably every chief justice has figured in the early speculations of one or more presidential races, but no full scale movements ever shaped up. In fact, Warren already may enjoy the distinction of being mentioned more seriously and purposefully in that connection than any predecessor.

There are some 10,000 chorus girls in the United States.

Groom Collapses During Wedding

CLEVELAND (AP)—Anthony Veruso knelt with his bride at the altar during the couple's wedding mass Saturday at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Suddenly the 64-year-old groom slumped and members of the wedding party tried to revive him. The priest, the Rev. John R. Rathfon, halted the rites and called an ambulance.

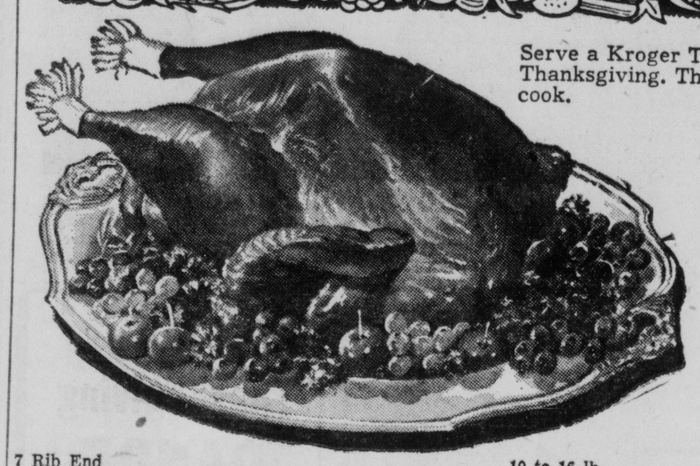

At City Hospital, Veruso was treated for a heart attack. He was believed to be out of danger. The bride postponed the reception.

There is no law which says that a chief justice or associate must resign to run for high public office, but Hughes probably set a precedent when he immediately did so. Presumably Warren would give up his post if he chose to run for President.

* * *

EVEN AS an associate justice, Hughes thought so highly of his position that he absolutely refused to be a candidate for the presidency in 1912, and it took a draft move such as Warren might encounter to cause him to waiver from that decision in 1916.

After his defeat, Hughes sojourned in private law practice and as Harding's secretary of State before going back to the Court as chief justice upon President Hoover's appointment at the retirement of William Howard Taft.

No chief justice since John Marshall, except Salmon P. Chase, has considered the office anything but the highest public calling in the land for a man in its line.

Chase, whose biographer comments that "perhaps his chief defect as a statesman was an insatiable desire for supreme office," in 1872 made an unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination. He had been named by President Lincoln in 1864, and served as head of the highest bench until 1873.

* * *

AN OHIOAN, Chase's political career was one of the most amazing. Starting out as a Whig, he formed the Liberty party in 1841, and later combined it with the Free-Soilers to help elect Martin Van Buren to the presidency. Chase served in the Senate as an Independent Democrat, yet with Seward was ranked as one of the two leading Republicans when Lincoln was nominated by the new GOP in 1860. Finally he turned Democrat again. He can hardly be regarded as typical of Supreme Court justices.

Warren has said he wishes no further elective office, but somehow many people will not take "no" for an answer when the presidency is concerned. Moreover, he had had an auspicious start on the Court and his leadership there of diverse intellectual groups among the jurists has won great respect. He gets right in and digs on the gruelling job of writing decisions, preparing more than his fair share.

* * *

THE CHIEF JUSTICESHIP is a job replete with honor, dignity, and significance, yet far from the strains and stresses of the presidency. Marshall's 34 years set the record for length of tenure, but Roger B. Taney of Maryland, his successor, served 28 years, and Melville W. Fuller of Illinois 21 years.

The pay for such top spots in the nation are hardly comparable, but even on that score Warren probably comes out at least as well as he would in the White House. He became chief justice at $25,000 per year, and if he takes a retirement available to him as a long-time California office holder, he may be eligible for as much as $18,000 additional in 1956.

* * *

THE PRESIDENT "makes" $100,000 a year, plus a $50,000 expense allowance, but after taxes, the upkeep of the 30 domestics he has to pay out of his own pocket, the extraordinary personal expenses he is bound to encounter, and incidentals, he may do well to make as much as the chief justice.

It is only in comparatively recent times that the two highest offices have drawn somewhat together. Taft is the only one of 33 Presidents who ever served as one of the 14 chief justices, and that was after he occupied the White House.

Probably every chief justice has figured in the early speculations of one or more presidential races, but no full scale movements ever shaped up. In fact, Warren already may enjoy the distinction of being mentioned more seriously and purposefully in that connection than any predecessor.

Groom Collapses During Wedding

CLEVELAND (AP)—Anthony Veruso knelt with his bride at the altar during the couple's wedding mass Saturday at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Suddenly the 64-year-old groom slumped and members of the wedding party tried to revive him. The priest, the Rev. John R. Rathfon, halted the rites and called an ambulance.

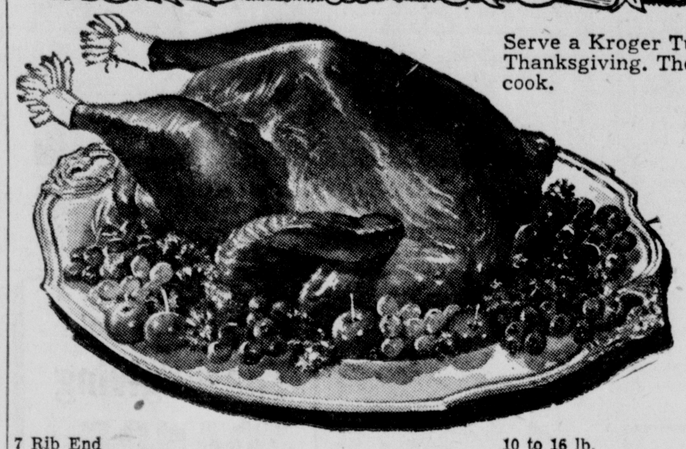

At City Hospital, Veruso was treated for a heart attack. He was believed to be out of danger. The bride postponed the reception.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Two years ago our son's marriage of seven years ended in divorce. We don't know too much about it, as he lives a great distance away. But we do know that his wife married again almost immediately—in fact before the divorce was final. The second marriage was a civil ceremony performed in another jurisdiction, I understand.

The new husband belongs to a church that doesn't recognize marriage to a divorced person as valid. This is his first marriage and he still goes to church and is thought by others to be a communicant, probably because the church authorities don't know the facts. Our son was married to the girl in a church ceremony.

Bob let Joyce proceed with divorce and have her way entirely, not realizing there was another man, and thinking she would come to her senses and return to him. He has developed a sound philosophy about the rift, but yearns for his children, whom he supports. He isn't allowed to see them, and doesn't insist upon his visiting rights, lest the controversy do them more harm than has been done already.

Don't Interfere

Bob is sure that the children, when older, will see the injustice of things and come to him voluntarily. We've kept entirely out of the fracas, partly because that is Bob's wish and partly because we feel so ignorant and helpless. Ours has been a long, happy marriage; and we too believe in the sanctity of the marriage vows. We know little of the ins-and-outs of divorce.

However, in the jurisdiction where Bob was divorced, once the children are given to the mother, it is almost impossible to take them from her, unless she is alcoholic, a prostitute, or proved insane.

Our chief concern is the children and we think Bob is right—that a custody fight can only harm the children. Yet we also feel that the shoals into which the new marriage is heading inevitably may do them even more harm. What do you think? Our hands are tied; but are Bob's necessarily so?

E. P.

DEAR E. P.: The picture of Bob that emerges from between the lines, is that of a man who really didn't care very much about his wife and children at the time of divorce. It appears that he was unconsciously relieved by his wife's decision to separate and take the children, as if he welcomed a breather from domestic harness.

His assumption that he didn't have to lift a finger to solve the trouble, that Joyce would be back eventually—on her knees, he figured—shows how rejecting he was, at the crossroad. Because he didn't much want her then—feeling fed up after seven years' marriage—he theorized that nobody else would be interested, either. In his blindly complacent, punitive indifference to her, he completely overlooked the watchful other man—whom she hastily married for security, perhaps.

Bob's insistence that you stay out of the fracas, and his air of leniency towards Joyce's animosity—so as not to hurt the children further, he says—suggests a secret conviction on his part, of having cast them off two years ago. He may sense that his innate desire was to be rid of them—as he let Joyce go by default. Maybe he was in the mood for a fling; and it is only as time wears on that he yearns to see his children.

Dislikes Stress

It is my impression that you are gently prodding Bob to claim visiting privileges, or custodial sharing, as regards the children—primarily that you may get to know them. And he is tactfully evading your pressure, giving various excuses for taking no action. Fundamentally, he is probably indisposed to press for "rights," largely because he dislikes the stress of child-care—and doesn't doubt Joyce's devotion to the task. The present set-up, though unsatisfactory, suits him better than full responsibility would, I take it.

He seems inclined to let time work things out; and I advise you to adjust to that attitude. If Joyce's new marriage goes on the rocks, don't be holier-than-thou. Rather count it a second chance for Bob to make good on his past mistakes.

Honeymooners May Salvage Downed Plane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Ohio newlyweds whose single-engine plane crash landed on North Elbow Cay, a small island 125 miles southeast of here, will get a chance to buy back their wrecked craft.

Paul Latham, operator of an aircraft repair firm, purchased salvage rights on the plane, and said he will ask the owner if he "wants to buy it back."

Mr. and Mrs. Joel K. Richards of Portsmouth, Ohio, were flying from Havana to Key West Oct. 25 when their plane was forced down on the island. They spent 50 hours of their honeymoon there before being rescued.

Latham said he will christen the plane "The Honeymooners."

Latham said salvage of the all-metal, low-wing plane, plus transportation and the price he paid for the plane itself, amounted to $750. He said he paid $350 for rights of salvage to George Bishop, who had bought salvage rights from the company that insured the plane.

CUT DOWN TO SIZE

BY POURING more and more money into political campaigns, organized labor is promoting a reaction which may prove unpalatable to union leaders. An intensive study is under way to find means of stopping practices designed to influence election decisions by money alone.

If union leaders, with hundreds of millions of dollars at their command, have become the chief offenders, they will encounter mounting hostile public sentiment.

During the regime of the elder LaFollette in Wisconsin a half century ago a law was passed in that state barring corporations from contributing to campaign funds. Public policy then was directed toward curbing the excesses of the "trusts."

Now Wisconsin is acting again. The state legislature has passed a bill making it illegal for labor organizations to contribute to political campaigns.

It is traditional American policy to fight undue concentrations of economic power wherever found. An individual or group with too much power is a threat to every citizen. America has survived as the bastion of freedom by keeping the power-hungry cut down to size.

If labor leaders now fit the definition of greedy authoritarians, they certainly will be next in line.

HISTORY BY AGREEMENT

GEORGE ORWELL'S ominously prophetic penetration into the future, mirrored in the novel "1984," told of clerks in the totalitarian governments to come who did nothing but alter records of the past to conform to the regime's interpretation of history.

An agreement just reached between English and German historians who have been studying the causes of World War I smacks disquietingly of the Orwell prophecy.

The historians have concluded that the chief causative factors were not Anglo-German rivalry over world markets and ambition to dominate one another, but centered on fear of each other's military power. Hence the world is going out to British and German textbook writers to bring their prior judgments more into accord with the new thinking.

The revisionist movement is inspired by the premise that history books, especially those written for school children, are often blindly nationalistic, giving rise to prejudices and misconceptions. But the cure — history by compromise — could be worse than the disease.

"FREEING" ATOMIC CITIES

BILLS HAVE BEEN introduced in the Senate and House, with administration backing, to establish self-government in the atomic communities of Richland, Wash., and Oak Ridge, Tenn. The tardily proposed legislation is sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission and will relinquish federal control of the towns imposed when they were built during the war.

Although no good substitute was available at the inception of the atomic program, no American wants to see communities in the U. S. under what amounts to martial law in peacetime. Not only will the interests of both the communities and the federal government be more realistically promoted, as the Atomic Energy Commission says, by turning the areas over to control of their citizens, but violence to American tradition will be abated.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The human race needs to recognize that the hydrogen bomb can destroy the world and all that is on it. There is no practical limit to the size of the bomb except the method of conveying it and that can be solved by engineering.

The data we have been given to date are difficult to read and understand unless one is a specialist. The whole matter is surrounded by security rules which in no manner fool the scientist and engineer who can understand the facts. The layman is caught by such words as "disaster." What is a disaster? Where does it happen and how?

We are given a new word, "fall-out." What does "fall-out" mean? How long does it take? One reads and reads and is profoundly puzzled when he is told that a fall-out might take 10 years. In other words, a hydrogen bomb exploded in 1955 can still be doing damage in 1965. And where is it doing the damage? Anywhere. Literally anywhere or everywhere.

And what is it that does the damage? Apparently the main danger comes from a devilish stuff called radio-active strontium, which is a metallic element of the calcium group, and which mixes freely with calcium, so that it can destroy bones in man and beast. It is such a fine, powdery substance that it does not come down quickly as heavier particles of metals do, but circulates slowly in the atmosphere, falling-out slowly and coming down anywhere. No one can say that a particular target is shot at. The world is the target.

I make no pretentions at knowing chemistry but political manifestations are my business and I must ask whether radio-active strontium is a proper weapon of war? If the United Statse and Soviet Russia are at war and they fire weapons at each other on a particular day, the immediate effects take place that day and they do not occur in neutral territory. That is not true about radio-active strontium.

Why is it so difficult to get a current knowledge on this subject? How much of it was exchanged at the Atoms for Peace Conference at Geneva? If our scientists and the Russian scientists talked about radio-active strontium, why is it kept secret from the American people? After all, since Klaus Fuchs and the Rosenberg gang stole our secrets at the Manhattan Project, what secrets do we really have? Will it be necessary to read Russian publications to discover what we are doing here in the United States?

There is another question that needs to be asked in all seriousness. Only one man in the United States has the authority to order the use of this horrible weapon. That man is the President of the United States. We have recently witnessed the spectacle of a President of the United States laid low by a coronary thrombosis. He was not in a condition for days to issue an order of this magnitude, nor could his authority constitutionally be transferred to anyone else with sufficient speed to affect any situation involving great immediate danger to millions of lives.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

NOT UNTIL she was walking back to the house did Lois realize that Jane had told her nothing at all.

That afternoon Carol sent for Lois. Her voice over the telephone was pleasant but it was the voice of an employer.

"I thought," she said, when Lois joined her in the library, "you'd want to get some work done for a change. That is, you must find it awfully disagreeable to get so involved in our affairs. I know how I should feel if I were to get all mixed up in something that was not my concern."

For several hours she talked while Lois made notes. There was no reference to the scene in the cottage, to the conversation which Lois had inadvertently overheard, but it stood between the two women like a wall. When Carol had stopped talking there was a brief interval of silence. Then she said, still in that soft voice of hers, "I thought I'd give you all the information I have so you can take the material back to New York with you to work it up."

"Any way you like," Lois replied, trying to keep her voice casual. She longed to be able to say, "I won't go on with this," but she thought of Roger sleeping away his life in the cottage and set her teeth.

Carol leaned back lazily, smiling at her. "That would probably be best," she said. "And would you mind if Bessie gives you dinner on a tray after this? Since my great sorrow I find it trying to talk to strangers." She nodded her dismissal and Lois went back to the cottage, raging.

Clyde brought her tray that evening, set it down without a word and went out. Pariah, Lois thought ruefully. She finished typing her notes and tried to read but her attention was not on the printed page. When she became aware that she was waiting for Shandy, expecting him to come, to explain that scene of the morning, she slammed the book shut and turned on the radio so she could no longer listen for the creak of the gate and the sound of his halting footsteps.

As the evening grew chilly she plugged in the electric heater. And she must have dozed. Because it was that night the attempt was made, which so nearly succeeded, to kill her.

Slowly Lois opened her eyes. She was lying on the couch. Dr. Thomas, his face wet with sweat, his sleeves rolled up, was bending over her. And the cottage seemed to be filled with women. Carol was there and Bessie Kibbee and Ethel Hattery. Lois was wrapped in blankets because the windows and doors were wide open. Even so the air was permeated with the odor of gas. And even yet she did not understand. It was only when Ethel automatically picked up a cigaret and reached for a match that she knew.

"Don't light that!" the doctor shouted at her. "The room is still filled with gas."

She looked through her lashes from face to face. Ethel's pock-marked face was white and drawn with fatigue. She had been nursing Paula, Lois remembered. Bessie's small eyes were sunken in her head. New lines had come into her face. She seemed half dazed. Carol, shivering in a pale blue satin house coat, was helpless as usual. Of them all, Dr. Thomas looked the worst. Lois had the curious impression that he was deliberately restraining himself from looking at Carol but that his attention was riveted on her.

Lois closed her eyes tightly. Which one, she thought. Which one?

"But I told her not to use the fireplace," Carol said. She sounded exasperated. "I sent her the electric heater. I told her the fireplace was—dangerous."

In her anger Lois felt her heart begin to pound. Dr. Thomas, his fingers on her pulse, felt it too.

"She's conscious," he said.

"Mrs. Fleming, why did you do it?"

It was a moment before Lois grasped the incredible words, before she understood fully what he was attempting to do. Then she tried to sit up and was violently sick.

When the paroxysm was over she lay back exhausted. "I didn't turn on the heater," she said then. "Someone tried to murder me the same way Roger Brindle was murdered."

The words had been spoken at last. And quite suddenly Lois was afraid. For there was something in the room that threatened her.

It was Carol who said, "She's out of her mind."

Lois forced herself to sit up, in spite of the waves of blackness that kept moving through her head and blotting out her vision.

"I am perfectly sane," she said, aware that her voice was thick, the words indistinct. "If there's any question about that, I want another doctor. And I want a policeman."

Dr. Thomas shifted his stand with lightning speed. Incredibly, he was beaming at her. "You lie down, young woman," he said in his hearty bedside manner. "Doc's orders. Ethel will get you undressed."

Ethel looked at Lois thoughtfully. "I've got to get back to Paula," she said and left the cottage before Dr. Thomas could make a protest.

"Bessie?" he asked. There was no question of expecting any exertion from Carol Brindle.

"I'll do it," Bessie said flatly.

"In the morning," the Doctor told Lois, "after a good night's sleep you'll be more—we'll see about all this." He took Carol's arm gently and led her away.

Bessie knelt down and took off Lois' shoes. "I'll get you ready for bed." Shock had emptied her voice and her eyes of expression. She put the shoes neatly in the closet. "Did you see—anything?"

"No one," Lois said almost too quickly because she was, unreasonably, afraid of Bessie.

"Not being well, I guess you got confused like," Bessie said.

They can't do this, Lois thought. I've got to call the police and another doctor, a doctor who isn't hypnotized by Carol, a doctor who isn't trying to cover up. Better wait.

Bessie pulled off her socks and slacks.

"What happened?" Lois asked, her voice still thick.

Bessie did not look up. "Ethel found you. She heard the radio, saw the lights and came in. She called the rest of us. Fortunately, Shandy knew what to do or you'd have been dead before Doc got here. Said he had a flat tire. Anyhow, he took his time."

She hung up Lois' clothes, brought her a nightgown and opened the bed while Lois sat in a chair.

"Why?" Lois asked at length.

Bessie bent over, smoothing the blankets. "That fireplace never worked well." The woman's voice was toneless.

"It didn't turn itself on," Lois retorted. She wished the words came out clearer, wished her head were clearer.

Bessie straightened up without looking at her. "Why don't you go back to New York; Mrs. Fleming? This cottage isn't healthy."

Lois found herself laughing hysterically and used all her will power to check the wild sounds that came tearing from her throat.

"Want me to stay?" Bessie asked when the paroxysm was over.

"No," Lois said quickly. She added, "Thank you."

LAFF-A-DAY

"I should think our best allies in the cold war would be the Eskimos."

DIET AND HEALTH

Does Your Diet Include Sufficient Protein?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOTHER Nature is a pretty clever old woman.

She knows that we humans naturally tend to eat foods that taste good. So she has conveniently arranged to have the foods most important to our health—those with high protein content—tasty as well as nutritious.

Doctors know that you can get more benefit from eating a combination of two proteins than you can from a single protein food.

Here again, Mother Nature has taken a hand. She has arranged these vital combinations so that they just naturally go together. Take chicken and rice or milk and cereal, for example. Not only do these combinations taste good, but, eaten together, they do more good than if eaten separately.

Protein is the basic staff of life. Every cell in your body is protein of one kind or another.

Complex Substance

But protein is a very complex substance. You won't find any two of them identical. The nutritional value of each protein varies, as does the number of amino acids which go to make it up.

While our bodies can manufacture about half of these amino acids, the others must be obtained from the food we eat.

When you are ill, or during pregnancy, you may need greater amounts of protein than under normal conditions. Infants and children, too, need additional protein "building blocks" to help them grow properly.

Protein Needs

The only way you can supply your protein needs is by eating protein foods. And you've got to eat them each day, since your body can't store appreciable amounts of protein for any reserve action.

Therefore, you should eat some of the following every day:

Vegetable proteins—leafy vegetables, cereals, grains, legumes.

Animal proteins — meat, fish, milk and milk products, eggs.

In Small Amounts

It is not essential that you eat large amounts of the animal protein foods every day. Mother Nature has arranged it so that relatively small amounts of animal protein in a meal actually improve your body's use of protein obtained from other foods.

Generally, you'll find most of the high protein foods are also rich in vitamins and minerals. Mother Nature has not overlooked a thing.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. L. E. H.: What causes an intermittent heart beat and is it dangerous?

Answer: A so-called intermittent heart beat can come from many causes.

It is possible that you are having what is known as extrasystoles, which may be produced by excessive use of tobacco, infections, thyroid deficiencies and similar conditions.

You should have a careful examination, including an electrocardiogram, made by your physician, so that the cause for your trouble may be found and proper treatment carried out.

If Topper Could Only Talk!!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It may interest several million American kids of all ages to know that Hopalong Cassidy's horse comes of age this week.

Topper, four-footed hero of more than 95 films, will be 21 on Tuesday. The children at the Graham School in Hastings-on-the-Hudson have arranged a party for him. The birthday cake will have a huge carrot in the center to make it more attractive to Topper.

The big horse, who has had white hair all his life, shows few signs of age. He still travels 30,000 miles a year on personal appearance tours, still puts in a full day' work whenever his boss, that guy in the black cowboy suit, needs him. But like most famous stars, Topper has a double who performs certain difficult stunts for him.

At 21, a mellowing age for a horse, life holds many attractions for Topper

He isn't alloed to ride street cars, is ineligible for the draft, doesn't worry about who pays his income taxes, and always knows where his next lump of sugar is coming from.

Topper knows about every trick except the trick of speech. Suppose he could talk, what would he say? An admirer of Topper's thinks the horse would look back over his shoulder at Hopalong and remark:

"If only I could get that guy off my back!"

A week ago I was eating at Toots Shor's and saw a tall thin man with a graying mustache dining alone at the next table.

I had a sudden urge to go over and tell him what a fine human being I thought he was and how much I admired his ability as a writer. I had met the man casually, and it would not have been out of place for me to obey my urge. But I didn't.

The man was Robert Sherwood, the playwright. The next day he suffered a heart attack. Two days later he was dead.

It would have made no difference to Bob Sherwood if I had stepped over to him and put my thoughts into words. He was accustomed to receiving the praise he had earned.

But it makes a difference to me that I left my regard for him unspoken, for now I can never tell him and can only write it here, and am left with a regret.

Who says romance had died out of the world?

Recently during a cruise the chief steward of the Furness liner "Queen of Bermuda" knocked on the door of stateroom C-119.

He asked the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Larson of New Rochelle, N. Y., if they would accept a bottle of champagne that evening with the compliments of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Vreeland of Wilmette, Ill.

The surprised couple asked the origin of the gift.

The steward explained that 20 years before the Vreelands had sailed on the liner on their honeymoon. They had planned to spend their 20th anniversary the same way, but family illnesses had prevented them from carrying out their plan. So the Vreelands wrote the ship line, enclosed a sum of money, and asked that whoever occupied their old cabin—C-119—have a bottle of champagne on their 20th wedding anniversary.

The unusual request was carried out. The Larsons joined the ship's captain in toasting the them a "happy anniversary" message.

"I'm sorry they didn't get to make the trip themselves," said Larson. "They sound like people it would be fun to know."

Try, Stop Me

The utterly unexpected success of one of those overblown, gaudy historical novels lifted its hitherto unknown author to sudden prominence. The spotlight and all the other trimmings proved a little too much for him. A more severe case of swell-headedness hasn't been seen on Publishers' Row in many a moon.

It remained for a pert young girl to set "the genius" back on his heels, however, when he granted her an interview for her school paper. She listened to his boasting without cracking a smile; then said softly, "Why, I'll bet you're just the greatest writer in America today!' The new literary lion contrived a modest look, and chided, "Haven't you forgotten Hemingway, Faulkner, and O'Hara?"

"Oh, I wasn't thinking of you in that league,' she told him — in front of a couple of mean, tale-telling associates, too. "They're really important writers!" That ended the interview.

CUT DOWN TO SIZE

BY POURING more and more money into political campaigns, organized labor is promoting a reaction which may prove unpalatable to union leaders. An intensive study is under way to find means of stopping practices designed to influence election decisions by money alone.

If union leaders, with hundreds of millions of dollars at their command, have become the chief offenders, they will encounter mounting hostile public sentiment.

During the regime of the elder LaFollette in Wisconsin a half century ago a law was passed in that state barring corporations from contributing to campaign funds. Public policy then was directed toward curbing the excesses of the "trusts."

Now Wisconsin is acting again. The state legislature has passed a bill making it illegal for labor organizations to contribute to political campaigns.

It is traditional American policy to fight undue concentrations of economic power wherever found. An individual or group with too much power is a threat to every citizen. America has survived as the bastion of freedom by keeping the power-hungry cut down to size.

If labor leaders now fit the definition of greedy authoritarians, they certainly will be next in line.

HISTORY BY AGREEMENT

GEORGE ORWELL'S ominously prophetic penetration into the future, mirrored in the novel "1984," told of clerks in the totalitarian governments to come who did nothing but alter records of the past to conform to the regime's interpretation of history.

An agreement just reached between English and German historians who have been studying the causes of World War I smacks disquietingly of the Orwell prophecy.

The historians have concluded that the chief causative factors were not Anglo-German rivalry over world markets and ambition to dominate one another, but centered on fear of each other's military power. Hence the world is going out to British and German textbook writers to bring their prior judgments more into accord with the new thinking.

The revisionist movement is inspired by the premise that history books, especially those written for school children, are often blindly nationalistic, giving rise to prejudices and misconceptions. But the cure — history by compromise — could be worse than the disease.

"FREEING" ATOMIC CITIES

BILLS HAVE BEEN introduced in the Senate and House, with administration backing, to establish self-government in the atomic communities of Richland, Wash., and Oak Ridge, Tenn. The tardily proposed legislation is sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission and will relinquish federal control of the towns imposed when they were built during the war.

Although no good substitute was available at the inception of the atomic program, no American wants to see communities in the U. S. under what amounts to martial law in peacetime. Not only will the interests of both the communities and the federal government be more realistically promoted, as the Atomic Energy Commission says, by turning the areas over to control of their citizens, but violence to American tradition will be abated.

They can't do this, Lois thought. I've got to call the police and another doctor, a doctor who isn't hypnotized by Carol, a doctor who isn't trying to cover up. Better wait.

Bessie pulled off her socks and slacks.

"What happened?" Lois asked, her voice still thick.

Bessie did not look up. "Ethel found you. She heard the radio, saw the lights and came in. She called the rest of us. Fortunately, Shandy knew what to do or you'd have been dead before Doc got here. Said he had a flat tire. Anyhow, he took his time."

She hung up Lois' clothes, brought her a nightgown and opened the bed while Lois sat in a chair.

"Why?" Lois asked at length.

Bessie bent over, smoothing the blankets. "That fireplace never worked well." The woman's voice was toneless.

"It didn't turn itself on," Lois retorted. She wished the words came out clearer, wished her head were clearer.

Bessie straightened up without looking at her. "Why don't you go back to New York; Mrs. Fleming? This cottage isn't healthy."

Lois found herself laughing hysterically and used all her will power to check the wild sounds that came tearing from her throat.

"Want me to stay?" Bessie asked when the paroxysm was over.

"No," Lois said quickly. She added, "Thank you."

DIET AND HEALTH

Does Your Diet Include Sufficient Protein?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MOTHER Nature is a pretty clever old woman.

She knows that we humans naturally tend to eat foods that taste good. So she has conveniently arranged to have the foods most important to our health—those with high protein content—tasty as well as nutritious.

Doctors know that you can get more benefit from eating a combination of two proteins than you can from a single protein food.

Here again, Mother Nature has taken a hand. She has arranged these vital combinations so that they just naturally go together. Take chicken and rice or milk and cereal, for example. Not only do these combinations taste good, but, eaten together, they do more good than if eaten separately.

Protein is the basic staff of life. Every cell in your body is protein of one kind or another.

Complex Substance

But protein is a very complex substance. You won't find any two of them identical. The nutritional value of each protein varies, as does the number of amino acids which go to make it up.

While our bodies can manufacture about half of these amino acids, the others must be obtained from the food we eat.

When you are ill, or during pregnancy, you may need greater amounts of protein than under normal conditions. Infants and children, too, need additional protein "building blocks" to help them grow properly.

Protein Needs

The only way you can supply your protein needs is by eating protein foods. And you've got to eat them each day, since your body can't store appreciable amounts of protein for any reserve action.

Therefore, you should eat some of the following every day:

Vegetable proteins—leafy vegetables, cereals, grains, legumes.

Animal proteins — meat, fish, milk and milk products, eggs.

In Small Amounts

It is not essential that you eat large amounts of the animal protein foods every day. Mother Nature has arranged it so that relatively small amounts of animal protein in a meal actually improve your body's use of protein obtained from other foods.

Generally, you'll find most of the high protein foods are also rich in vitamins and minerals. Mother Nature has not overlooked a thing.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. L. E. H.: What causes an intermittent heart beat and is it dangerous?

Answer: A so-called intermittent heart beat can come from many causes.

It is possible that you are having what is known as extrasystoles, which may be produced by excessive use of tobacco, infections, thyroid deficiencies and similar conditions.

You should have a careful examination, including an electrocardiogram, made by your physician, so that the cause for your trouble may be found and proper treatment carried out.

If Topper Could Only Talk!!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It may interest several million American kids of all ages to know that Hopalong Cassidy's horse comes of age this week.

Topper, four-footed hero of more than 95 films, will be 21 on Tuesday. The children at the Graham School in Hastings-on-the-Hudson have arranged a party for him. The birthday cake will have a huge carrot in the center to make it more attractive to Topper.

The big horse, who has had white hair all his life, shows few signs of age. He still travels 30,000 miles a year on personal appearance tours, still puts in a full day' work whenever his boss, that guy in the black cowboy suit, needs him. But like most famous stars, Topper has a double who performs certain difficult stunts for him.

At 21, a mellowing age for a horse, life holds many attractions for Topper

He isn't alloed to ride street cars, is ineligible for the draft, doesn't worry about who pays his income taxes, and always knows where his next lump of sugar is coming from.

Topper knows about every trick except the trick of speech. Suppose he could talk, what would he say? An admirer of Topper's thinks the horse would look back over his shoulder at Hopalong and remark:

"If only I could get that guy off my back!"

A week ago I was eating at Toots Shor's and saw a tall thin man with a graying mustache dining alone at the next table.

I had a sudden urge to go over and tell him what a fine human being I thought he was and how much I admired his ability as a writer. I had met the man casually, and it would not have been out of place for me to obey my urge. But I didn't.

The man was Robert Sherwood, the playwright. The next day he suffered a heart attack. Two days later he was dead.

It would have made no difference to Bob Sherwood if I had stepped over to him and put my thoughts into words. He was accustomed to receiving the praise he had earned.

But it makes a difference to me that I left my regard for him unspoken, for now I can never tell him and can only write it here, and am left with a regret.

Who says romance had died out of the world?

Recently during a cruise the chief steward of the Furness liner "Queen of Bermuda" knocked on the door of stateroom C-119.

He asked the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Larson of New Rochelle, N. Y., if they would accept a bottle of champagne that evening with the compliments of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Vreeland of Wilmette, Ill.

The surprised couple asked the origin of the gift.

The steward explained that 20 years before the Vreelands had sailed on the liner on their honeymoon. They had planned to spend their 20th anniversary the same way, but family illnesses had prevented them from carrying out their plan. So the Vreelands wrote the ship line, enclosed a sum of money, and asked that whoever occupied their old cabin—C-119—have a bottle of champagne on their 20th wedding anniversary.

The unusual request was carried out. The Larsons joined the ship's captain in toasting the them a "happy anniversary" message.

"I'm sorry they didn't get to make the trip themselves," said Larson. "They sound like people it would be fun to know."

The spotlight and all the other trimmings proved a little too much for him. A more severe case of swell-headedness hasn't been seen on Publishers' Row in many a moon.

It remained for a pert young girl to set "the genius" back on his heels, however, when he granted her an interview for her school paper. She listened to his boasting without cracking a smile; then said softly, "Why, I'll bet you're just the greatest writer in America today!' The new literary lion contrived a modest look, and chided, "Haven't you forgotten Hemingway, Faulkner, and O'Hara?"

"Oh, I wasn't thinking of you in that league,' she told him — in front of a couple of mean, tale-telling associates, too. "They're really important writers!" That ended the interview.

⅔ cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
1½ tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 tablespoon softened shortening
1 No. 2 can Louisiana yams, drained and mashed 3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup raisins (optional)
Melted butter or margarine

Measure water into a large mixing bowl (warm, not hot, for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast). Stir in sugar and salt. Crumble or sprinkle in yeast and stir until dissolved. Add shortening and yams and mix until thoroughly blended. Combine flour and raisins. Add flour mixture to yeast mixture in two additions, mixing until blended after each addition. Turn out on lightly floured surface and knead about 5 minutes, or until dough is smooth and elastic and does not stick to board. Place in greased bowl; cover and let rise in warm place until double in bulk, about 1½ to 2 hours. Punch down and pull edges to center; turn completely over in bowl. Let rise again until almost double in bulk, 30 to 45 minutes. Turn dough out on lightly floured surface; cover with cloth and let stand 15 minutes. Roll out to ¼ inch thickness and cut with floured 2-inch round cutter. Brush with butter or margarine. Place about 1 inch apart on lightly greased baking sheets. Cover and let rise 15 minutes. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) about 12 minutes, or until golden brown.

Home Demonstration Clubs Hold Special Design Meet

"Rug Making is a subject filled with romance, imagination and ingenuity," said Miss Jane Shoppe, extension home furnishing specialist at Ohio State University recently.

Rug making was developed because of the need for protection from the elements. Today, rugs are used primarily to give resiliency to the floor and beauty to the surroundings, declared Miss Shoppe.

Miss Shoppe was in charge of the special design meeting held recently at Wayne Township School by the Home Demonstration Clubs, with the local club serving as host.

Leaders were given opportunity to unveil their hidden talents in creating and adapting designs, and to learn about the materials and supplies necessary in constructing rugs by the hooked method.

Those present were: Mrs. Bruce Head, Mrs. Carl Binns, Mrs. Hom-

THE RHINO - - - NEW ALL-TERRAIN VEHICLE

Swamp Buggy Has Huge Hemispheroidal Hollow Wheels

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Association Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS — Looking like something out of Jules Verne science fiction, a powerful if fantastic vehicle that is designed to go everywhere on land or sea, and on all the graduations of mud and muck in between, has been built and is being tested here by the pioneer auto manufacturing concern, Marmon-Herrington company, for the international inventor, Elie Pl. Aghnides of New York City.

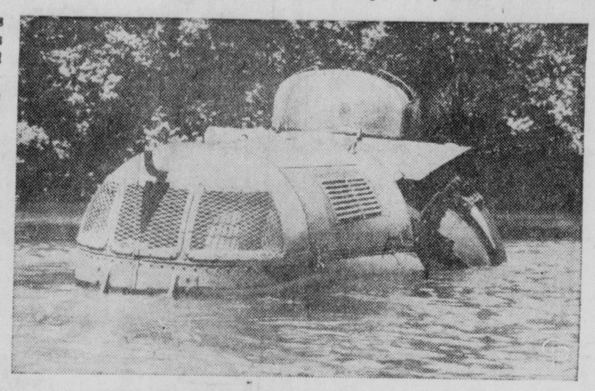

Although it is designed for performance rather than beauty, the engineers who have been hunting the roughest terrain to try the 10,000-pound giant on say it is the prettiest thing you ever saw if you have a tough problem of covering paved roads, mud, swamp and water.

Aghnides, who since 1948 has spent a fortune on the amphibious vehicle, has appropriately named it the "Rhino."

The Rhino looks a good deal like a metal reconstruction of that huge jungle animal, and is expected to find its habitat in petroleum, logging, farming, geological and construction operations, as well as explorations of all kinds in the tropics and sub-zero polar regions. Its military possibilities are just being assayed.

The Rhino grinds its way through heavy sand.

The Rhino, turned swamp buggy, takes a swim.

* * *

THE RHINO'S secret of success in negotiating with ease marshes, sand, snow, water and rough terrain is a huge pair of hemispheroidal hollow spun aluminum wheels in front, plus a smaller pair in the rear. For highway operation, only a narrow rubber tread touches the road. In soft places, the traction area is increased with every inch of sinkage of the hemispheroidal wheels.

The Rhino is floated in deep water by the large wheels and the watertight body. Power and steering in water are provided by a hydro-jet, making it so maneuverable that it turns easily in its own length.

The firm that has built the test model was founded in 1931 by an automotive pioneer, Walter C. Marmon, and his partner Arthur W. Herrington. Marmon made one of the early fine automobiles as a competitor to the famous Stutz Bearcat and the Dusenberg.

According to A. Alfred Campbell, vice president of Marmon-Herrington, "every other amphibious vehicle we have evaluated over our many years of experience has trouble when it leaves the water and attempts to cross soft mud flats at the water's edge, but not the Rhino."

When company engineers talk of their experience, it includes building armored cars, track-laying vehicles, the famous Locust tanks, crash trucks and jet engine starter chassis. The Rhino literally runs circles around track-laying vehicles.

The Rhino climbs 65 per cent grades, and its low center of gravity keeps it from tipping on slopes up to 75 per cent. It spins down the highway at 45 miles an hour and moves through water at a respectable five miles per hour.

* * *

IT IS a hybrid mechanical gadget combining numerous contributions by leading manufacturers. Power is supplied by an industrial six-cylinder engine of 110-horsepower at 3,000 revolutions per minute. Its four-speed forward and one-speed reverse transmission is linked to a two-speed transfer case. It can use either a two or four-wheel drive.

The Rhino is shod with experimental solid tire treads for the easy-going stretches. Its hydro-jet unit pumps 1,100 gallons per minute from a pump intake recessed into the hull bottom; discharging through a full-swivelling steel nozzle outlet at the stern which also provides steering in water.

Indicating the engineering "bugs" that have been licked, the rear axle is equipped with a differential which may be locked into no-spin position by the driver, and is a steering driving axle with constant velocity universal joint ends.

The axle is suspended conventionally by two semi-elliptic springs. A built-in compensator allows the rear axle to turn faster than the front to avoid tire scuff when turning. Rubber cleats provide maximum traction.

Aghnides, the inventor, among other things, of the water aerator now being sold by the millions in sink and lavatory equipment, already has ideas for improved models.

These will include four hemispheroidal wheels, big and tilted, making practically the whole underside a means of traction. It will stand no higher than six feet, and its inventor believes it may revolutionize locomotion.

Ohio 4-H'er Visits Farms In Scotland

WASHINGTON (AP)—Miss Elizabeth Anne Sayre, of Sidney, Ohio, found little mechanization on farms in Scotland, where she spent five months this summer and fall.

Miss Sayre was in Scotland under the National 4-H Club Foundation's International Farm Youth Exchange program.

On her return, she and other exchange students reported on their experiences to officials of the Agriculture and State departments in Washington.

Scottish people, she said, dance a lot and in this way help preserve some of their ancient traditions.

Generally, she found the country a little cold.

"The Scots won't spoil their old churches by putting in modern heating facilities," she said. "As a result they are so cold no one goes to them."

She related that she wasn't of much use in the fields late in her stay because she had to put on so much clothing to keep warm that she could hardly move around. But the natives worked in their shirt sleeves, she said.

Miss Sayre found that tourists and woolen textiles are big industries in Scotland. She was so taken with the woolens, that "I have a whole suitcase full of tweeds."

She told of one case where an electric power plant was built on a bleak peat field so that it could use the peat for fuel.

"The peat is 20 feet thick," she said, "and under it is good soil. When the peat is removed the land can be farmed. This has led some to observe that eventually Scotland may be farming in a hole."

Northern Scotland, she said, is too rocky for much farming so the principal industry there is sheep raising.

SPEAKING to a House government operations subcommittee in Washington, James S. Pope, executive editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, urges Congress to enact legislation which will assure the press access to more government information. Several of the nation's top news specialists told the subcommittee information about government activities is being suppressed or "managed" to an extent that seriously impairs public's right to know what is going on. (International)

Would it not be expedient for President Eisenhower jointly with the Congress to appoint a special commission of outstanding jurists to study the ramifications of this problem?

One can view the matter sentimentally and say that a delightful person as President Eisenhower ought not to be embarrassed by such a question; or one can view it realistically and say that we live in a disturbed era when anything can happen; that men not restrained by conventional morals have been hurled to the summit of states by revolutions and that in their hands are weapons which can destroy the world; that as long as the President, a mortal man, is the only one among 165,000,000 persons with authority to use the bombs even defensively, we must be protected from the dangers that can beset mortal man.

Such a realistic approach to the problem must recognize heart attacks, diabetic comas and similar disabilities as possible and politically dangerous. It may be said that the Vice President could quickly be co-opted, but Mr. Truman, in his memoirs, admits that at the moment that he succeeded President Roosevelt, he knew nothing about the best kept secret.

Under our system of continuous government, we may be caught in the trap of excessive secrecy.

Quintuplet Back In Hospital Again

MONTREAL (AP) — Marie Dionne, quintuplet who was studying for religious orders at a Quebec convent, has been admitted to a hospital here for observation.

It is the second time in 16 months the 21-year-old girl has left the institution where she is studying to be a nun. Her quintuplet sister, Emilie, died in a Quebec Province nursing home in August 1954.

Marie's family said she left the servants of the Blessed Convent in Quebec City and traveled here with a nurse. She was reported suffering from "loss of appetite."

Don't Surrender to Old Age Until You've Made This Test

WHAT IS CLIMACTERIC?
Medical dictionaries tell us "climacteric" is the time of life when the body undergoes a radical change. The first change, when boys become men and girls become women, is usually between the ages of 12-17.—another change again occurs usually between 40 and 50.

WHO DOES IT AFFECT?
Both men and women. In women it is called "menopause" or "Change of life"... in men, doctors call it "male climacteric."

WHAT ARE THE COMMON SYMPTOMS?
Because the body and blood are undergoing important changes during climacteric, the entire system may become upset and symptoms are varied. Men are usually extremely nervous, tire easily, become irritable, feel weak in arms, legs and back and often are very "crabby." Often there are "hot flashes" accompanied by that "what's the use" feeling. And very often a special supplementary source of certain vitamins and minerals is needed such as you find in this important discovery called AFTER 40 CAPSULES.

WHAT CAN BE DONE?
Medical science has discovered many medicines that can tide you over the difficult "change of life" period. Today, try the new capsule called "AFTER 40" that supplies the body with an unusual combination of vitamins and minerals so often needed during this period. Full month's supply only $5.00 ... be absolutely delighted with results or cheerful, unquestioned refund.

Quintuplet Back In Hospital Again

MONTREAL (AP) — Marie Dionne, quintuplet who was studying for religious orders at a Quebec convent, has been admitted to a hospital here for observation.

It is the second time in 16 months the 21-year-old girl has left the institution where she is studying to be a nun. Her quintuplet sister, Emilie, died in a Quebec Province nursing home in August 1954.

Marie's family said she left the servants of the Blessed Convent in Quebec City and traveled here with a nurse. She was reported suffering from "loss of appetite."

Income Tax Law Open To Appeals

In about two weeks, an ordinance to set up a city income tax in Circleville will be up for final reading in city council.

Explaining that they themselves are still more or less "in the dark" as to what the ordinance contains, the municipal legislators have given assurance that no final action will be taken without a "thorough study"—a full opportunity for public discussion. While this would seem to infer that some delaying action will be agreed upon at council's next regular meeting, it does not mean that the income levy cannot eventually pass.

Consequently, The Herald is bringing its readers some of the highlights of the proposed law—which would go into effect upon council's approval. The following is the fourth installment of this series:

BOARD OF APPEALS. A board of appeals, consisting of the city attorney, or one of his assistants as he may designate from time to time, the city treasurer, or one of his deputies as he may designate from time to time, and a representative citizen of Circleville, as to be appointed by the mayor, is hereby created. All rules, regulations and amendments thereto, which are adopted by the city auditor under the authority conferred by this ordinance, must be approved by the board of appeals before the same become effective. After such approval, said rules, regulations, amendments and changes shall be filed with the clerk of council, and shall be open to public inspection. All return and declaration forms formulated by the city auditor shall be subject to amendment by the board of appeals after June 30, 1956.

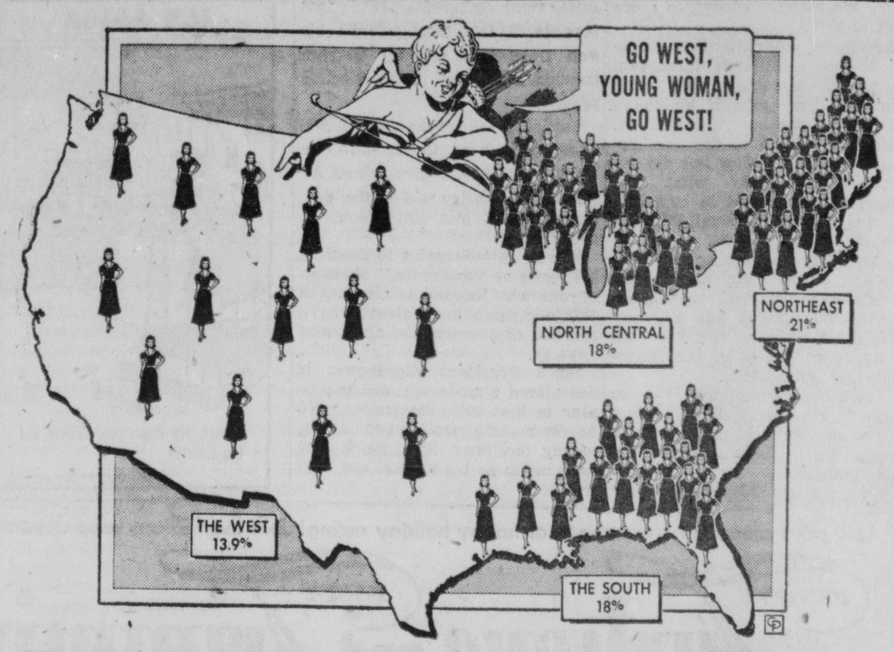

Any taxpayer or employer against whom a final assessment has been issued and who has filed a notice of appeal. . . . shall be granted a hearing by the board of appeals. At such hearing, the appellant and the city auditor shall be given opportunity to prevent evidence relating to the matter appealed from. After the conclusion of such hearing, the board of appeals shall affirm, reverse or modify the final assessment appealed from, and shall furnish a copy of its decision in respect thereof to the appellant and to the city auditor.

The representative citizen appointed by the mayor shall be chairman of the board of appeals and shall receive per diem compensation to the fixed by council. The city treasurer shall serve as secretary of the board of appeals and he and the city attorney shall serve as members thereof without compensation. A majority of the members of the board of appeals shall constitute a quorum. The board of appeals shall adopt its own procedural rules and keep a record of its transactions. All hearings by the board may be conducted privately, and the provisions. . . .with reference to the confidential character of information required to be disclosed by this ordinance shall apply to such matters as may be heard on appeal. . . .

ALLOCATION OF FUNDS. The funds collected under the provisions of this ordinance shall be applied for the following purposes, and in the following order, to wit:

1. Such parts thereof as shall be necessary to defray all costs of collecting the taxes levied by this ordinance and enforcing the provisions hereof.
2. Such part thereof as council may appropriate to the general fund for the purpose of paying the cost of general municipal operations.
3. Such part thereof as council may appropriate for the purpose of paying the cost of maintenance and the purchase of new equipment.
4. Such part thereof as council may appropriate for the purpose of paying the cost for the repair and maintenance of streets.
5. Such part thereof as council may declare as surplus shall be placed in a capital improvement fund.

(End of Fourth Installment)

THIS CHART translates U. S. Census bureau figures into the same advice Horace Greeley gave almost a hundred years ago, "Go West." Single females 14 and over make up only 13.9 per cent of population in the west. But in the south and north central states they are 18 per cent strong, and in the northeast 21 per cent. Thus, young woman (in the mood to marry?) there is less competition out west.

Weather Control Seen In Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—A California scientist says man some day may learn from space flight studies how to control weather and climate.

Dr. Heinz Haber, astrophysicist at the University of California at Los Angeles, said such a possibility, rather than the prospect of flying to another planet, is what may justify the cost and the dangers of space satellite projects.

In a lecture before the National Geographic Society, Haber said observation of the earth, from out in space, will produce knowledge of weather and will improve ability to forecast. And as man's understanding of weather grows, Haber said, he may be able to control destructive storms.

POOR MATERIAL, PLANNING HAMPER RUSS CONSTRUCTION

By ROBERT J. GUERINK

Written Especially for Central Press Association and This Newspaper

TEN RUSSIAN building experts recently came to the United States to find out not how but in what the other half lives, this side of the Iron Curtain. One man bought a $27 prefabricated window; another wanted to buy the blueprints of a school he saw. They all took notes and pictures and asked plenty of questions. However, when they in turn were asked a few, they clammed up tighter than an attic trapdoor with a trunk on top.

"How are you doing back in Russia?" they were asked.

It was wasted breath — and here's why:

The floors, partitions, rafters, floor beams and other wooden parts of new houses in Russia are being made of green lumber. In new apartment houses in Moscow, Leningrad, Kirov and other cities, the floors warp in a couple of years.

In Novgorod, chimneys began to crack and windowsills began crumbling "soon after" new houses were moved into. In charge of construction there is the provincial building materials administration, which moved into a brand new building. It wasn't long before the plaster started littering the bureaucrats' floors and the chimney showed the inevitable crack.

* * *

IN NOVOSIBERSK, an apartment was redone by a group of laborers. The work had been OK'd by a state commission: the roof was fixed up and plastered and the walls were painted. A month later, "the building could not be recognized." Why not?

Somebody forgot the drain pipes. They were clogged up.

Came the first rain, the water ran off the roof and down the walls, staining the blue paint with dirty lines and streaks of rust. As the newspaper Izvestia commented, "'A mere detail!' say the administration officials. Yet disregard of this 'detail' results in large state funds being thrown to the winds."

Take the little matter of bricks. The Russian visitors took out tape measures near Washington, D. C., and carefully noted the size of American bricks. However, at a construction project at Stalingrad last year, these finicky calculations wouldn't have done any good. Bricks were unloaded by hand, each worker trying to grab as many as possible; lots of bricks were dropped and cracked.

To speed brick deliveries, it was hoped to ship them in special containers; the brickyards and the builders argued for half a year, nothing was done, and brick-loaded freight cars stood idle for weeks on sidings.

* * *

CONSIDER rock and gravel, needed for foundation work. Big piles of rock lie around railroad spurs, often blocking trains. At one project, workers were seen loading rock into dump trucks while modern belt conveyors stood unused nearby.

General housing planning often goes haywire. For instance, an order went out to builders in Novgorod that they couldn't construct anything except an eight-family, two-story structure.

There was another regulation, however, that these two-story affairs couldn't be built on the main streets, for what reason nobody knows. Result: the houses were built in the outskirts where there weren't any roads or sewers or water mains.

In Saratov, where the Volga river flows by every day, water taps in houses were gurgling feebly. Izvestia blasted the city's planners with a refrain of "water, water everywhere . . ."

One of the worst things about Russian housing is that the builders sometimes let their sense of proportion run riot. (See cartoon.) This applies even to the big earth-moving machines that dig foundations. Last year they came up with a beaut that looked like an attempt to prove that Russian dirt is the cleanest in the world.

They brought out equipment with whitewall tires!

The Soviet humor magazine, Crocodile, in this cartoon takes a crack at Russian builders' lack of a sense of proportion. Translated, a would-be tenant asks: "Where's the railing for this balcony?" The building superintendent: "We can't do everything perfect. All the money was spent on the building's ornaments!"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai Stevenson himself, without saying so, put his finger on the No. 1 problem facing the Democrats in trying to persuade the voters to throw the Republicans out in 1956.

"America," he said in a speech Saturday night, "is well and strong above all nations in all times. We are the luckiest people in the world and we know it."

If that's the case, the voters might ask, why should they take a chance on changing administrations in next November's election? Stevenson's reasons seemed to add up to this: "We can do everything better."

He was very vague on how. That can't be held against him at this time. This was his first speech after announcing he wanted to be president. It was just a general outline of what he'll say later.

It was also pretty much the outline of what the Democratic party will be saying. There were no surprises. It was pretty much along the lines on which the Democrats already have indicated they will attack the Republicans.

It was just enough of an outline to show there are no fundamental differences between the two parties and that the differences which do exist are matters of degree more than of kind.

Stevenson attacked the Eisenhower administration's farm program. On this subject he seems unusually hazy and, if he has a solution, he has kept it to himself.

He was critical of the administration's foreign policy but did not indicate specifically what was wrong with it except to complain there was too much tough talk and backing away from it.

And—there was no surprise about this—he accused the Republicans of being the party of "special interest," meaning it was too cozy toward big business. This has been a steady complaint of the Democrats for generations.

Stevenson complained — or seemed to be complaining — that this country was not giving enough foreign aid to nations outside the Communist bloc.

If he pursues this line he may suffer some embarrassment in 1956 because it is almost certain his own Democrats will try to ram through a tax cut in the election year.

Cutting taxes means cutting revenue. It is hard to see how the Democrats could logically call for a boost in foreign aid if the government has less tax money to spend on it.

Stevenson took pains to describe his views as "moderate," although anyone who listened to him in the 1952 campaign must already have reached that conclusion about him anyway.

Since President Eisenhower is considered a moderate, and is popular in that role, Stevenson could hardly make himself unpopular following the same line, which also happens to be his natural one anyway.

Grange Ready To Vote On New Policies

CLEVELAND (AP)—A spokesman for the Grange's Agricultural Committee said last night the committee members apparently will be unable to reach unanimous agreement on policy recommendations.

For that reason, said the spokesman, the question of recommendations probably will be put up to the entire delegation to the Grange's 89th annual convention underway here.

Statements by two members of the committee indicate the range in views of the committee members.

The committee's chairman, Beatty H. Dimit, master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, commented:

"The major aims of our policy should be to work for less government in agriculture as raidly as conditions permit. The long-line aim is to get away from all price supports. Although we recommend this must be done gradually."

A committee member, A. Lars Nelson, master of the Washington State Grange, said:

"In view of the seriousness of the farm situation, . . . we can no longer stand halfway between the concept of rigid supports and flexible supports. We stand for full parity for all of our farm products going into the domestic markets."

Pretzels originated in Rome and were usually given to children for saying their prayers properly.

4 Being Held In Ironton Holdup

IRONTON (AP)—Four West Virginians have been brought here on robbery charges in the $56 pistol-whipping holdup of an Ironton man at his home.

The four agreed to extradition when arrested yesterday in South Charleston, W. Va. Police identified them as Robert E. Taylor, 41, and Miss Nellis Mae Eads, 24, both of South Charleston; Darrell E. White, 29, Spring Hill, and Norvis R. Ashley, 30, Charleston.

Faulty Rifle Kills Girl, 17

SANDUSKY (AP)—Charles Ryan's deer rifle would not work while he was hunting, and when he got home yesterday he began examining it.

The gun fired, killing his daughter, Carol, 17, as she sat typing a few feet away.

The same bullet wounded a visitor, James Strause, 18, who was taken to Providence Hospital. Coroner James E. Walker ruled the girl's death accidental.

POOR MATERIAL, PLANNING HAMPER RUSS CONSTRUCTION

By ROBERT J. GUERINK

Written Especially for Central Press Association and This Newspaper

TEN RUSSIAN building experts recently came to the United States to find out not how but in what the other half lives, this side of the Iron Curtain. One man bought a $27 prefabricated window; another wanted to buy the blueprints of a school he saw. They all took notes and pictures and asked plenty of questions. However, when they in turn were asked a few, they clammed up tighter than an attic trapdoor with a trunk on top.

"How are you doing back in Russia?" they were asked.

It was wasted breath — and here's why:

The floors, partitions, rafters, floor beams and other wooden parts of new houses in Russia are being made of green lumber. In new apartment houses in Moscow, Leningrad, Kirov and other cities, the floors warp in a couple of years.

In Novgorod, chimneys began to crack and windowsills began crumbling "soon after" new houses were moved into. In charge of construction there is the provincial building materials administration, which moved into a brand new building. It wasn't long before the plaster started littering the bureaucrats' floors and the chimney showed the inevitable crack.

* * *

IN NOVOSIBERSK, an apartment was redone by a group of laborers. The work had been OK'd by a state commission: the roof was fixed up and plastered and the walls were painted. A month later, "the building could not be recognized." Why not?

Somebody forgot the drain pipes. They were clogged up.

Came the first rain, the water ran off the roof and down the walls, staining the blue paint with dirty lines and streaks of rust. As the newspaper Izvestia commented, "'A mere detail!' say the administration officials. Yet disregard of this 'detail' results in large state funds being thrown to the winds."

Take the little matter of bricks. The Russian visitors took out tape measures near Washington, D. C., and carefully noted the size of American bricks. However, at a construction project at Stalingrad last year, these finicky calculations wouldn't have done any good. Bricks were unloaded by hand, each worker trying to grab as many as possible; lots of bricks were dropped and cracked.

Rose, Orange Bowls Repeat Setup Of '54

Michigan State Due To Meet UCLA In Big Pasadena Show

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's Michigan State and UCLA in the Rose Bowl and Oklahoma and Maryland in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2.

It's a song that's been sung before.

Those same four teams met in the same New Year's Day extravaganzas in 1954. The results that time: Michigan State defeated UCLA 28-20 and Oklahoma toppled Maryland 7-0.

Once again, Michigan State and UCLA are once beaten. The Spartans lost only to Michigan (14-7) this season, while only Maryland upended UCLA (7-0). Maryland, the 1953 national champ, again has a 10-0 record, while Oklahoma, 9-0 with one game left and apparently heading for the national title, was once beaten and once tied going into the '54 Orange Bowl.

UCLA expected to receive official blessing from the Pacific Coast Conference today after a token poll of members. The Uclans won their third straight PCC championship by thrashing Southern Cal 17-7 Saturday.

Michigan State received its Rose Bowl credentials from the Big 10 yesterday although getting the bid as a runner-up. Ohio State, barred from two consecutive Pasadena pastimes, won the Big Ten title again by booting Michigan out of the picture 17-0 while Michigan State walloped nonleague Marquette 33-0.

Oklahoma and Maryland, the only major unbeaten-untied clubs remaining, got their bowl tickets before last weekend's games in which the Sooners won their 10th straight Big Seven title by whipping Nebraska 41-0 and Maryland clipped George Washington 19-0.

Half of the bowl berths now are filled, with Texas Christian gaining the Southwest Conference host spot in the Cotton Bowl by humiliating Rice 35-0. That leaves the Dallas bowl selectors still looking for another team.

The Sugar and Gator Bowl committees also are still on the prowl and they'll have their teams by week's end with Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Navy and Pitt awaiting to say yes.

To give the selectors a good show, Mississippi plays Mississippi State, Georgia Tech meets Georgia, Auburn takes on Alabama and Navy tangles with Army as college football takes one last fling this Saturday.

Pitt's record already is bound up for inspection with Saturday's 20-0 decision over Penn State capping a season that listed victories over Duke and West Virginia.

The Southeastern Conference champ generally fills one of the Sugar Bowl berths and Mississippi (8-1), Georgia Tech (7-1-1) and Auburn (7-1-1) are the contenders. Vanderbilt (7-2) also has a chance. Vandy plays Tennessee, knocked for a loop by Kentucky 23-0, this weekend.

Navy, which returned to the postseason business last January in the Sugar Bowl, likely will have a Cotton Bowl invitation in hand if it can beat Army. If the Middies fail, Pitt or one of the SEC teams may make it.

Pitt also qualifies for the Sugar Bowl, although the New Orleans promoters could do worse than match a SEC pair.

The Gator Bowl, set for Dec. 31, probably will have to wait until after the Cotton and Sugar Bowls make their moves before getting replies to its bids.

Spartan Coeds Just Love Hoppy

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—"Dear Hoppy: We love you . . ." a group of Michigan State University coeds wired Howard (Hopalong) Cassady after he led Ohio State to a 17-0 victory over Michigan in the brawling Big Ten football windup at Ann Arbor Saturday.

The mash note from the sorority sisters at Gamma Phi Beta reflects the gratitude Michigan State feels toward the Buckeye halfback for helping the Western Conference champs whitewash Michigan.

Ohio State is barred from repeating its Rose Bowl trip of last New Year's despite a perfect 6-0 conference record. So, Big Ten runnerup Michigan State (5-1) got the nod over third-place Michigan (5-2) for the Pasadena trip.

Wider Free Throw Lane Is Given OK

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—The wider free throw lane in college basketball should bring more zone defenses, fast breaks, fewer hook shots and more emphasis on the out-court set shot, a survey of coaches shows.

These predictions by Rosewell D. Merrick and Donald N. Boydson are based on comments from 23 top basketball coaches in an article in Journal of Health.

Free throw lanes are widened from six feet to 12 feet under the new rule going into effect this year. The rule was adopted a few years ago by the National Basketball Assn.

E. A. Diddle, coach at Western Kentucky State, says the "big, slow boy" will be most affected.

UCLA's John Wooden feels the tall players will lose "some cheap baskets by tip-ins after missed free throws and may lose some other offensive rebounds" but doesn't think their game will be "materially affected."

Everett N. Case of North Carolina State is one of those who sees set shooters being inserted into the lineup to draw the defense away from the basket. Harry Combes of Illinois believes there is no reason for changes in defensive tactics.

Combes said the big man with shooting ability will have to be defended against while playing out of the area.

St. Louis' Eddie Hickey sees the wider lane offering "greater possibility for the development of some type of zone defense."

Hunter Each Day Killed In Michigan

DETROIT (AP) — Seven Michigan deer hunters, an average of one a day, have died from gunfire since the season opened.

Eleven other hunters have died of heart attacks, two have frozen to death, one has died of exposure and three have been asphyxiated sleeping in cars or tents. Another six hunters are missing and "presumed dead" by authorities.

Musial Aiming At 3000 Hits

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial, celebrating his 35th birthday today, is still confident he'll be able to reach the 3,000-hit milestone before calling it a day with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The $80,000-a-year veteran performer, whose name is commonplace in the game's record books, puts his ambition this way:

"When I get those hits I'll quit. Baseball is a wonderful profession, but I've had enough."

Musial, who finished the 1955 season with a total of 2,597 hits, figures it will take him nearly three more season to collect the remaining 403 safeties.

Broncos Rally To Smack Pleasantville

Behind three quarters of the game, the Ashville Broncos stormed by Pleasantville on the latter's floor, 72-66 Saturday night.

The Pleasantville aggregation, which played in the Class "B" State tournament semi-finals last Winter, led at the quarter, 20-15, 34-29 at the half and 56-54 at the end of the third quarter.

Ashville's Riegel led the scoring for both sides with 24 points. Barr, for Pleasantville, who was second-string All-Ohio last year, netted 22 points.

Both teams scored 25 field goals but the foul lane provided the margin of victory in favor of Ashville as the Broncos made 22 charity tosses to 16 for Pleasantville.

Ashville also took the prelim, 40-28.

Rose, Orange Bowls Repeat Setup Of '54

Michigan State Due To Meet UCLA In Big Pasadena Show

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's Michigan State and UCLA in the Rose Bowl and Oklahoma and Maryland in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2.

It's a song that's been sung before.

Those same four teams met in the same New Year's Day extravaganzas in 1954. The results that time: Michigan State defeated UCLA 28-20 and Oklahoma toppled Maryland 7-0.

Once again, Michigan State and UCLA are once beaten. The Spartans lost only to Michigan (14-7) this season, while only Maryland upended UCLA (7-0). Maryland, the 1953 national champ, again has a 10-0 record, while Oklahoma, 9-0 with one game left and apparently heading for the national title, was once beaten and once tied going into the '54 Orange Bowl.

UCLA expected to receive official blessing from the Pacific Coast Conference today after a token poll of members. The Uclans won their third straight PCC championship by thrashing Southern Cal 17-7 Saturday.

Michigan State received its Rose Bowl credentials from the Big 10 yesterday although getting the bid as a runner-up. Ohio State, barred from two consecutive Pasadena pastimes, won the Big Ten title again by booting Michigan out of the picture 17-0 while Michigan State walloped nonleague Marquette 33-0.

Oklahoma and Maryland, the only major unbeaten-untied clubs remaining, got their bowl tickets before last weekend's games in which the Sooners won their 10th straight Big Seven title by whipping Nebraska 41-0 and Maryland clipped George Washington 19-0.

Half of the bowl berths now are filled, with Texas Christian gaining the Southwest Conference host spot in the Cotton Bowl by humiliating Rice 35-0. That leaves the Dallas bowl selectors still looking for another team.

Looks Like Browns, Bears In Pro Football Title Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unless the second place teams get some unexpected help, it looks very much like it will be the Browns vs the Bears for this year's professional football championship.

Twenty years ago Alabama sent Don Hutson up to the National Football League and he proceeded to make life miserable for opposing pass defenders for the next decade.

Now Alabama has contributed Harlon Hill to the NFL, and the Chicago Bears' star promises to be just as much of a problem for the defense as his illustrious predecessor. Hill looked like Hutson at his best Sunday as he twice faked Detroit defenders out of the way for the touchdowns that brought the Bears a 24-14, victory, their sixth in a row, and first place in the NFL's Western Conference.

With three games to go, the Bears (6-3) have a half-game lead over the Los Angeles Rams (5-3-1), who were held to a 17-17 tie by Baltimore. Hutson's old team, the Green Bay Packers (5-4), trail by a game after Tobin Rote passed for two touchdowns and ran 49 yards to set up a third in a 27-21 victory over San Francisco.

In the Eastern Conference, Cleveland bounced back from its upset defeat by Philadelphia a week ago to trounce Pittsburgh 41-14 and remain a game in front of Washington's surprising Redskins, 31-0 winners over the Chicago Cardinals. New York vaulted from last place to a tie for third with Pittsburgh by clipping the Philadelphia Eagles 31-7.

The Browns will face one of their biggest road blocks next Sunday in their drive for a 10th straight divisional championship.

The menacing foe is the New York Giants, to be met in the Polo Grounds. On Nov. 6 the Browns had to overcome a 14-3 halftime deficit to earn a 24-14 win over the New Yorkers.

Yesterday's one-sided win, manufactured on some fine passing by Otto Graham and superlative running by Curly Morrison, gave the Browns a 7-2 league record with three to play.

Pittsburgh threw Graham for losses of 52 yards on aerial plays. But in between the big Steelers' surges Otto found time to complete 6 of 9 for a net of 79 yards, including two touchdown tosses to Dante Lavelli.

The snappy quarterback, greeted with Pittsburgh-contingent signs of "Cry-Baby Otto" as the result of his recent remarks that "pro football was rough and getting dirtier" also wheeled five yards around end for a personal touchdown after faking a handoff.

Morrison ran for 56 and 41 yards on two sensational draw plays, each stopped short of the goal line, and the former Ohio Stater wound up with 140 yards rushing in 17 tries. Pittsburgh's entire ground total was 63 yards.

Cleveland Coach Paul Brown said Pittsburgh's attempt to put the heat on Graham gave his line its chance for a fine showing.

"The Steelers were shooting their linebackers to pressure Graham," he said. "That's why our thrusts through the Pittsburgh line were so successful. Shooting linebackers is a big gamble. They were pinning all their hopes on stopping Graham."

Wildcats Win Thriller, 63-61 Over Kingston

The Jackson Wildcats provided their home-floor folks with plenty of thrills and chills Saturday night as they downed a tough Kingston quintet, 63-61.

Behind 25-10 at the quarter and 35-24 at the half, the Widlcats roared back in the second half to defeat Kingston.

It's the second thriller in as many weeks for the Jackson team. Against Atlanta, it took a drive-in shot by Don Smith in the final two seconds to decide the game in Jackson's favor, 51-49.

In the Kingston tilt, the importance of charity tosses was proven. Smith sunk 13 free throws of 17 attempts. He led the scorers for both sides with 25 points, making more with foul shots than by field goals.

* * *

KINGSTON outscored Jackson in the field goal department, making 25 to the Wildcats' 23. However, Jackson made 17 points from the foul lane to Kingston's 11 for the margin of victory.

Jackson now boasts an overall record of five wins and no losses and a 3-0 record in league play.

Kingston salvaged the reserve battle, 57-47.

Whites Quitting Dixie Golf Club

ASHEBORO, N. C. (AP)—About 20 of the 170 white members have withdrawn their memberships from the municipally owned golf course here after about 10 Negroes were permitted to play.

Edward D. Cranford, chairman of the Asheboro Golf Commission, said "the course will definitely close for financial reasons unless something is done about it."

Cranford said the commission plans to abide by the Supreme Court's recent decision against segregation on public parks.

Non-League Tilts Set This Week

No county league games are scheduled for this week due to the Thanksgiving holiday but some of the teams may be seen in non-league tilts.

On Tuesday, Monroe hosts Laurelville, Ashville travels to Mt. Sterling, Pickaway goes to Lancaster St. Marys and Walnut hosts Carrol.

The only Wednesday game features Jackson at Stoutsville. On Friday, Pickaway hosts Centralia.

Scoring Crown Goes To Cassady

CHICAGO (AP)—Howard Cassady of Ohio State proved himself one of the nation's most consistent touchdown makers in grabbing off the Big Ten scoring title.

The fleet Buckeye halfback rambled for 15 touchdowns and a total of 90 points in closing out his college career with a grand total of 222 points, highest in Ohio State history.

Looks Like Browns, Bears In Pro Football Title Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unless the second place teams get some unexpected help, it looks very much like it will be the Browns vs the Bears for this year's professional football championship.

Twenty years ago Alabama sent Don Hutson up to the National Football League and he proceeded to make life miserable for opposing pass defenders for the next decade.

Now Alabama has contributed Harlon Hill to the NFL, and the Chicago Bears' star promises to be just as much of a problem for the defense as his illustrious predecessor. Hill looked like Hutson at his best Sunday as he twice faked Detroit defenders out of the way for the touchdowns that brought the Bears a 24-14, victory, their sixth in a row, and first place in the NFL's Western Conference.

With three games to go, the Bears (6-3) have a half-game lead over the Los Angeles Rams (5-3-1), who were held to a 17-17 tie by Baltimore. Hutson's old team, the Green Bay Packers (5-4), trail by a game after Tobin Rote passed for two touchdowns and ran 49 yards to set up a third in a 27-21 victory over San Francisco.

In the Eastern Conference, Cleveland bounced back from its upset defeat by Philadelphia a week ago to trounce Pittsburgh 41-14 and remain a game in front of Washington's surprising Redskins, 31-0 winners over the Chicago Cardinals. New York vaulted from last place to a tie for third with Pittsburgh by clipping the Philadelphia Eagles 31-7.

The Browns will face one of their biggest road blocks next Sunday in their drive for a 10th straight divisional championship.

The menacing foe is the New York Giants, to be met in the Polo Grounds. On Nov. 6 the Browns had to overcome a 14-3 halftime deficit to earn a 24-14 win over the New Yorkers.

Yesterday's one-sided win, manufactured on some fine passing by Otto Graham and superlative running by Curly Morrison, gave the Browns a 7-2 league record with three to play.

Pittsburgh threw Graham for losses of 52 yards on aerial plays. But in between the big Steelers' surges Otto found time to complete 6 of 9 for a net of 79 yards, including two touchdown tosses to Dante Lavelli.

The snappy quarterback, greeted with Pittsburgh-contingent signs of "Cry-Baby Otto" as the result of his recent remarks that "pro football was rough and getting dirtier" also wheeled five yards around end for a personal touchdown after faking a handoff.

Morrison ran for 56 and 41 yards on two sensational draw plays, each stopped short of the goal line, and the former Ohio Stater wound up with 140 yards rushing in 17 tries. Pittsburgh's entire ground total was 63 yards.

Cleveland Coach Paul Brown said Pittsburgh's attempt to put the heat on Graham gave his line its chance for a fine showing.

"The Steelers were shooting their linebackers to pressure Graham," he said. "That's why our thrusts through the Pittsburgh line were so successful. Shooting linebackers is a big gamble. They were pinning all their hopes on stopping Graham."

Wildcats Win Thriller, 63-61 Over Kingston

The Jackson Wildcats provided their home-floor folks with plenty of thrills and chills Saturday night as they downed a tough Kingston quintet, 63-61.

Behind 25-10 at the quarter and 35-24 at the half, the Widlcats roared back in the second half to defeat Kingston.

It's the second thriller in as many weeks for the Jackson team. Against Atlanta, it took a drive-in shot by Don Smith in the final two seconds to decide the game in Jackson's favor, 51-49.

In the Kingston tilt, the importance of charity tosses was proven. Smith sunk 13 free throws of 17 attempts. He led the scorers for both sides with 25 points, making more with foul shots than by field goals.

* * *

KINGSTON outscored Jackson in the field goal department, making 25 to the Wildcats' 23. However, Jackson made 17 points from the foul lane to Kingston's 11 for the margin of victory.

Jackson now boasts an overall record of five wins and no losses and a 3-0 record in league play.

Kingston salvaged the reserve battle, 57-47.

Whites Quitting Dixie Golf Club

ASHEBORO, N. C. (AP)—About 20 of the 170 white members have withdrawn their memberships from the municipally owned golf course here after about 10 Negroes were permitted to play.

Edward D. Cranford, chairman of the Asheboro Golf Commission, said "the course will definitely close for financial reasons unless something is done about it."

Cranford said the commission plans to abide by the Supreme Court's recent decision against segregation on public parks.

Non-League Tilts Set This Week

On Tuesday, Monroe hosts Laurelville, Ashville travels to Mt. Sterling, Pickaway goes to Lancaster St. Marys and Walnut hosts Carrol.

The only Wednesday game features Jackson at Stoutsville. On Friday, Pickaway hosts Centralia.

Income Levy Collections Boost Ohio Tax Revenue For 1954

Total Figures Otherwise Had Statewide Drop

Canton Goes Back To City Levy Idea After Dropping It

Tax revenue of Ohio's 139 cities would have shown a drop in 1954 except for one thing — a big increase in income tax collections in the 14 cities which had this source of revenue last year.

Circleville city officials had this fact to ponder today as they continued to discuss a pending ordinance to set up an income tax for this municipality. The far-reaching measure, designed to avert what some officials claim is a financial emergency waiting only a few months in the future, has already had two readings in city council.

It will be up for third reading when council holds its next regular meeting December 6.

Circleville lawmakers have promised that no final action will be taken without a "thorough study" of the proposal. Ultimate fate fo the ordinance, introduced at the request of Councilman George Crites, appears to hinge on discussions still in the future.

* * *

OF ITS first two readings, the legislation drew virtually no comment. Councilmen explained they have yet to learn full details of the ordinance.

Meanwhile, State Auditor James A. Rhodes revealed that total tax revenue of Ohio's cities jumped from $196,940,190 in 1953 to $201,-191,408 in 1954, an increase of $4,251,218, but income tax receipts alone were $5,955,813 higher last year than in 1953—making up for a decline in the total and providing the margin of gain.

Cities with the income-payroll tax collected $27,726,412 in 1954 and $21,770,599 in 1953. It was the second biggest tax revenue source, exceeded only by the general and classified property tax.

This was revealed by Rhodes after compiling annual financial reports from Ohio's city auditors and finance directors to his office.

Cities with the income-payroll tax are Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, Youngstown, Springfield, Warren, Norwood, Barberton, Lancaster, Campbell, Struther, St. Bernard and Maumee. Four of these were newcomers in 1954 to the ranks of income tax cities —Cincinnati, Norwood, Barberton and St. Bernard.

Canton had an income-payroll tax in 1953; dropped it in 1954, but adopted it again for 1955.

* * *

TAX SOURCES which showed a drop in revenue for cities last year were: general and classified property tax, down from $116,862,545 in 1953 to $113,316,396 in 1954; liquor and beer permits, $5,762,719 in 1953 and $5,665,013 in 1954; gasoline tax, $16,105,658 in 1953, $14,578,670 in 1954; cigarette licenses, $647,999 in 1953, $646,228 in 1954; public utility excise tax for poor relief, $3,595,753 in 1953, $2,254,482 in 1954; other miscellaneous taxes, $36,223 in 1953, $28,828 in 1954.

The drop in gasoline tax revenue in 1954 was due to the fact that a distribution which normally would have gone out in January 1954 was made in late December 1953 to enable many cities to pay street maintenance and repair bills before the end of the year.

Tax sources which produced more revenue for cities in 1954 were: Motor vehicle licenses, $8,577,590 in 1953, $10,651,843 in 1954; sales tax, $10,464,221 in 1953, $11,411,683 in 1954; intangible tax paid by financial institutions, $7,-253,106 in 1953, $8,340,284 in 1954; inheritance tax, $4,488,526 in 1953, $4,747,212 in 1954; income tax $21,-770,599 in 1953, $27,726,412 in 1954; admissions tax, $1,411,246 in 1953, $1,824,353 in 1954.

All other sources of revenue such as water works, electric plants, sewer rentals, parking meters, special assessments, hospital receipt, fines and costs, etc. brought the total 1954 receipts of cities to $412,395,226 as compared with $396,964,779 in 1953.

After the show she commented: "My husband won't be able to say very much if I dent a fender now, will he?"

Charity Dance Brings Rap Of Bootlegging

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP) — Four men were to appear in Municipal Court today on bootlegging charges filed by state liquor agents after a raid Saturday night on the Mounds Club, once a thriving gambling casino.

The four are Lawrence Gaudio, identified by the agents as the man in charge of the place, charged with keeping a place for illegal sale of liquor; and three Willoughby Hills volunteer firemen—Richard Blum, Clarence Sinka and Charles Crenig—all charged with illegal sale of liquor.

The raid broke up a "Harvest Dance" sponsored by Women's Auxiliary of the Willoughby Hills Fire Department and attended by about 500 persons.

Mrs. Lillian Rowles, publicity chairman for the auxiliary, said the organization thought it was within the law when it decided to hold the dance at the club. The auxiliary had sold tickets before the dance so no money would be exchanged for liquor, only tickets.

Mrs. Rowles said the proceeds, including those from sales of sandwiches toaled about $1,000, which the auxiliary planned to use for such things as installing sanitary facilities at the fire station.

The raiders confiscated about 80 bottles of liquor.

The Mounds Club was closed in 1949 after a raid by liquor agents. Its ownership has changed hands since then. Last Oct. 3, Gaudio and Frank Kapel applied for a night club permit, but were turned down.

Tax revenue of Ohio's 139 cities would have shown a drop in 1954 except for one thing — a big increase in income tax collections in the 14 cities which had this source of revenue last year.

Circleville city officials had this fact to ponder today as they continued to discuss a pending ordinance to set up an income tax for this municipality. The far-reaching measure, designed to avert what some officials claim is a financial emergency waiting only a few months in the future, has already had two readings in city council.

It will be up for third reading when council holds its next regular meeting December 6.

Circleville lawmakers have promised that no final action will be taken without a "thorough study" of the proposal. Ultimate fate fo the ordinance, introduced at the request of Councilman George Crites, appears to hinge on discussions still in the future.

OF ITS first two readings, the legislation drew virtually no comment. Councilmen explained they have yet to learn full details of the ordinance.

Meanwhile, State Auditor James A. Rhodes revealed that total tax revenue of Ohio's cities jumped from $196,940,190 in 1953 to $201,191,408 in 1954, an increase of $4,251,218, but income tax receipts alone were $5,955,813 higher last year than in 1953—making up for a decline in the total and providing the margin of gain.

Cities with the income-payroll tax collected $27,726,412 in 1954 and $21,770,599 in 1953. It was the second biggest tax revenue source, exceeded only by the general and classified property tax.

This was revealed by Rhodes after compiling annual financial reports from Ohio's city auditors and finance directors to his office.

Cities with the income-payroll tax are Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, Youngstown, Springfield, Warren, Norwood, Barberton, Lancaster, Campbell, Struther, St. Bernard and Maumee. Four of these were newcomers in 1954 to the ranks of income tax cities —Cincinnati, Norwood, Barberton and St. Bernard.

Canton had an income-payroll tax in 1953; dropped it in 1954, but adopted it again for 1955.

TAX SOURCES which showed a drop in revenue for cities last year were: general and classified property tax, down from $116,862,545 in 1953 to $113,316,396 in 1954; liquor and beer permits, $5,762,719 in 1953 and $5,665,013 in 1954; gasoline tax, $16,105,658 in 1953, $14,578,670 in 1954; cigarette licenses, $647,999 in 1953, $646,228 in 1954; public utility excise tax for poor relief, $3,595,753 in 1953, $2,254,482 in 1954; other miscellaneous taxes, $36,223 in 1953, $28,828 in 1954.

The drop in gasoline tax revenue in 1954 was due to the fact that a distribution which normally would have gone out in January 1954 was made in late December 1953 to enable many cities to pay street maintenance and repair bills before the end of the year.

Tax sources which produced more revenue for cities in 1954 were: Motor vehicle licenses, $8,577,590 in 1953, $10,651,843 in 1954; sales tax, $10,464,221 in 1953, $11,411,683 in 1954; intangible tax paid by financial institutions, $7,253,106 in 1953, $8,340,284 in 1954; inheritance tax, $4,488,526 in 1953, $4,747,212 in 1954; income tax $21,770,599 in 1953, $27,726,412 in 1954; admissions tax, $1,411,246 in 1953, $1,824,353 in 1954.

All other sources of revenue such as water works, electric plants, sewer rentals, parking meters, special assessments, hospital receipt, fines and costs, etc. brought the total 1954 receipts of cities to $412,395,226 as compared with $396,964,779 in 1953.

After the show she commented: "My husband won't be able to say very much if I dent a fender now, will he?"

Charity Dance Brings Rap Of Bootlegging

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP) — Four men were to appear in Municipal Court today on bootlegging charges filed by state liquor agents after a raid Saturday night on the Mounds Club, once a thriving gambling casino.

The four are Lawrence Gaudio, identified by the agents as the man in charge of the place, charged with keeping a place for illegal sale of liquor; and three Willoughby Hills volunteer firemen—Richard Blum, Clarence Sinka and Charles Crenig—all charged with illegal sale of liquor.

The raid broke up a "Harvest Dance" sponsored by Women's Auxiliary of the Willoughby Hills Fire Department and attended by about 500 persons.

Mrs. Lillian Rowles, publicity chairman for the auxiliary, said the organization thought it was within the law when it decided to hold the dance at the club. The auxiliary had sold tickets before the dance so no money would be exchanged for liquor, only tickets.

Mrs. Rowles said the proceeds, including those from sales of sandwiches toaled about $1,000, which the auxiliary planned to use for such things as installing sanitary facilities at the fire station.

The raiders confiscated about 80 bottles of liquor.

The Mounds Club was closed in 1949 after a raid by liquor agents. Its ownership has changed hands since then. Last Oct. 3, Gaudio and Frank Kapel applied for a night club permit, but were turned down.
